The Condemned Murderer Awaits the End Calmly. Same Chair in Which Harris Was Killed to Be Used.

SING SING, N. Y., June 10.—John L. Osmond, who murdered John C. Burleigh, his wife's paramour, in September last, will be killed in the electrical chair in Sing Sing prison on Monday next, between 10 and 12 o'clock, unless Gov. Flower grants him a stay. As this is highly improbable, there is little doubt that the execution will take place at the time named.

It Is Not quite so warm to-day as it was one year ago to-day, but it is conceded by most people in New York to be warm enough.

The official temperature was 82 degrees at 8 o'clock this morning, but it has gone up to 84 at noon, while Perry's thermometer showed the temperature on Park Row to be 84 degrees at that hour, and the atmosphere is charged with 84 per cent of humidity.

But to-morrow will be a genuine Coney Island Sunday. A little cooler than to-day, but clear and pleasant after the early morning showers.

The hot place in America this morning was Kay West, where it was 20 degrees warmer than in New York, while at White River, Canada, it was actually two degrees below the freezing point. It was 64 at Chicago and 50 at San Francisco, 64 at Boston and 50 at Washington.

Improvement in the Financial Situation Reflected in the Street.

WALL STREET, Saturday, June 10.—Stocks were very strong to-day. There was good buying for both accounts, and a further advance of 1 1/2 to 3/4 cent.

The continued rise reflects the improvement in the general situation during the week. The leading events were the restoration of confidence in Chicago, the heavy movement of grain to Europe, the cessation of gold exports, and a drop of 2 1/2 cents in the rates of sterling exchange.

The bulls in the local money market have had little or no effect, as borrowers having acceptable collateral have at all times been able to secure ample accommodations at bank at 6 per cent, or under.

The events, taken altogether, have afforded a legitimate basis for a recovery in stocks from the extreme depression, and the bears, from day to day, have made strenuous efforts to reduce their unfairly large shorts.

Foreign purchases of securities have been on a fairly large scale. The favorable progress reported in the Northern Pacific and Richmond Terminal plans for the reorganization of the latter company has been a material aid to operations for a rise.

Railway traffic returns have also been satisfactory, encouraging to stimulate returns for the week.

The highest quotations of the day and the lowest quotations of the previous day, and speculation was positively buoyant.

The sales of stocks were 13,900 shares. In the unlisted department 1,900 shares of Sugar and 1,200 of Lead were traded in, and closed off at 2 1/2 and 3 per cent.

The total bank clearings of all the clearing houses in the United States for the week ending to-day have been $10,000,000, a decrease of $1,000,000, as compared with the same week last year, and an increase of $7,243,000 over the corresponding week of last year.

As it was known that the banks had over $3,000,000 through the interior currency movement and another $1,000,000 or so by the Sub-Treasury operations during the week to-day's bank statement shows a loss of over $6,000,000 in cash, but as loans were contracted, $2,200,000 of the deposit liabilities are reduced, $1,400,000, and hence the surplus reserve is held $4,400,000 above the 10 per cent legal requirement, against $2,500,000 last year.

MRS. J. COLEMAN DRAYTON HERE

Arrives with Her Maid on the New York-Other Passengers.

After a favorable voyage of six days and twenty-one hours the American line steamer New York arrived at this port to-day. She reached her dock shortly after 10 o'clock.

Among her passengers was Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton. Mrs. Drayton had a suit of rooms and was accompanied by her maid. She left the dock in a closed carriage, and her destination could not be learned.

Mr. Frederic R. Couderc, fresh from Paris, was also on board. He is the sailing master of the schooner "The Sloop," which stands on the crew of the bill over-looking the Falls.

At the Cataract House the Duke received a very handsome solid gold plaque with the coat of arms and a portrait of his life in relief. It was presented to him by the Duke.

The duke party were then taken in a carriage through the Victoria Park on the Canadian side and engaged in the banquet which stands on the crew of the bill over-looking the Falls.

Plummer-Quincy Wedding.

Many congratulations are pouring in upon Mr. and Mrs. John M. Plummer, who were married at the bride's residence, 85 Seventh street, on Thursday night. The groom is prominent in athletic and canoeing circles, occupies a responsible position with Peck & Snyder and is a brother of Manager C. H. Plummer, of the "New York Herald."

The bride was Miss Emma Plummer, daughter of John D. Quiner, the well-known lawyer, of 40 Broadway.

BROKEN AT THE CAPITOL.

This Is Really the Condition of Many Public Men. COMPLETELY BROKEN DOWN BEFORE THEY REALIZE THEIR DANGER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9, 1893.—"Suffering from nervous prostration!"

"That was the information given to my inquiry yesterday as to why a certain gentleman had been absent from his office. The gentleman would not be down that day, it was told; he was unable to attend to business, and the cause was explained by the remark above quoted. I had heard this phrase used several times during the day, and its repetition aroused my curiosity. About the dangerous effects of talk recently about the many departments of overwork from which so many department employees are sufferers, and this frequently recurring statement seemed to prove it. I finally visited several of the departments for the purpose of interviewing certain prominent people who are well qualified to give an opinion on this most important topic. Among those who were seen were the following:

Andrew L. Drummond, Chief of the United States Secret Service Department of the Treasury, said: "I never use liquor nor tobacco, but suffer greatly from headache and nervousness. My doctor ordered me to give up my work, but I was finally induced to try Faine's celery compound, which was the first remedy from which I obtained any relief. I was simply astonished at its effect. Since using it the headaches have kept at a respectful distance."

Capt. Ball of the United States Assistant Door-keeper of the United States Senate, expressed his opinion in these words: "I have been a great sufferer from sleeplessness, and to such an extent that I could not get more than an hour's rest nightly. Finally I was persuaded to try that splendid remedy, Faine's celery compound, and it made me sleep soundly. For that reason I am recommending it daily to my friends."

As further evidence of the wonderful popularity attained by the remedy above named, it may be stated that a number of well-known people informed me that it had been strongly recommended to them, and that they intended to try it as a means of obtaining relief from the effects of overwork and nervous ailments. Among these were Hon. F. C. Layton and Hon. John A. Caldwell, Ohio; Hon. Samuel Fowler and Hon. Thomas D. English, New Jersey; Hon. John L. Bretz, Indiana; Eugene B. Daskam, Chief of Division of Public Monies, and David Wolfe Brown, official reporter of House debates.
