POLICE KEEP SUSPECTED MILK STORE CLOSED

John J. McGlinn, milk dealer at Fortieth street and Westminster avenue, finds himself in a strange situation. Though his place is admittedly clean and he has nine children who are perfectly healthy, nine homes which used his milk have been stricken with typhoid fever. The source of the infection is a mystery.

THEY RAISED $90 FOR GIRLS AND BOYS WHO HAVE PARALYSIS

On Erie avenue these nine little girls appealed so successfully for contributions to their relief fund that they raised the sum in a few days. Left to right are Marian Levy, Edna and Ethel Jeffries, Gwendolyn and Lenore Clemmer, Evelyn Clark, Edith Marcus, Hilda Cohn and Gertrude Bendiner.

NEW YORK POLICE BY THE TRUCK LOAD RESPOND TO TROUBLE CALLS

The traction strike is giving Gotham a taste of something like warfare. As the French went to the Battle of the Marne in taxicabs, the coppers are rushing to the scene of battle in autotrucks.

PENNSYLVANIA FIRM GETS ORDER FOR 50,000 ARMY GOGGLES

Judging by the big order which has just been awarded to a Reading concern, the United States soldier will soon carry spectacles as a part of his regular equipment. Eye protectors like the above have been found to be indispensable in strong sun and sandstorms.

CAMDENITES RALLY AROUND THE REPUBLICAN FLAG AND A ROASTED OX

An old-fashioned barbecue at Clementon, N. J., on Saturday drew all the laborers in the G. O. P. vineyard out of Camden County and city. They gathered from every precinct and division to eat and listen to Leslie M. Shaw.
