

President to the institution of land reforms rather than set forth definite plans for the correction of this long standing evil.

It is believed that the Mexican delegates will receive from their position that the protocol shall contain nothing that may be interpreted as directing the internal affairs of Mexico.

Whatever means are employed to select a man to succeed Huerta, it is believed that some way will be found to give the Mexican Congress a vote in the matter.

The attitude of the Carranzistas is likely to prove a disturbing factor in the putting into effect of what Justice Lamar calls "our plan of pacification."

REBELS WON'T AGREE TO PLANS FOR PEACE

Special Dispatch to The Evening World. SALTILO, Mexico, May 28.—When the Constitutional force of 13,000 reaches San Luis Potosi it will probably find no opposition.

Gen. Maza, with the remainder of his scattered army that evacuated Saltillo, is on the outskirts of San Luis Potosi.

Because of the famine between Saltillo and San Luis Potosi at least 400 soldiers perished and at least 2,000 wounded during the march.

Villa intends to capture Zacatecas before proceeding with his other plans, as the Federal forces there have administered defeat after defeat to the Constitutionalists.

Guadalupe is another point that will engage Villa's forces. Villa evacuated there in great haste.

Two of Huerta's Cabinet Ministers reported to have been executed. VERA CRUZ, Mexico, May 28.—Mexicans arriving from the capital to-day report that Jose Maria Lozano, formerly Minister of Communications, and Querido Mohene, formerly Foreign Minister, but now supposed to be holding the portfolio of Commerce and Industry, are missing.

All Alone But Not Lonesome

To the average person vacation time comes but once a year, and this most important event should be planned with due care and consideration.

Over 2,000 Country, Seashore and Mountain Hotels and Boarding Houses will be described in

The World's Summer Resort Guide for 1914

OUT ABOUT JUNE 15. For FREE Distribution at all World Offices and by Mail.

The most artistically printed, copiously illustrated and altogether valuable guide to vacation places ever issued by any newspaper.

Apply for FREE Copy in Advertisers

HUERTA AGAIN DENIES HE INTENDS TO FLEE.

MEXICO CITY, May 28.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta, members of his Cabinet and many of his friends attended a birthday party yesterday for his daughter, the wife of Col. Luis Fuentes, at the home of the dictator.

Immediately on her return to this port without the Ypiranga the Bavaria was seized by the Americans, who demanded her manifest from the German captain.

FUNSTON DETAINS SHIP THAT LANDED ARMS AT PUERTO MEXICO.

VERA CRUZ, May 28.—The Hamburg-American liner Bavaria, which, with the Ypiranga, a German government charter, landed guns, barbed wire and millions of rounds of ammunition for Gen. Huerta at Puerto Mexico, to-day was held here by the American port authorities.

The cargo of the Ypiranga and the Bavaria were said to be the largest shipments of arms and ammunition ever sent into a Latin-American country.

The Ypiranga landed her munitions yesterday, it was said. This included 15,000,000 rounds of ammunition, rifles and 20 rapid fire guns.

The Bavaria came directly from Hamburg and discharged her cargo before touching at this port. The Ypiranga apparently landed her war materials while acting as a refugee ship under charter by the German Government.

When the Ypiranga sought to land the same supplies at Vera Cruz, there was a large contingent of men, some of them armed, who prevented the landing of the cargo only through the custom house.

It was unofficially reported here without confirmation that the German ships landed the Huerta ammunition with the consent of the Administration of the State Department.

When the Ypiranga sought to land the same supplies at Vera Cruz, there was a large contingent of men, some of them armed, who prevented the landing of the cargo only through the custom house.

JAPANESE SHIP WILL LAND MORE MUNITIONS FOR HUERTA'S TROOPS.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—That mediation will have settled the Mexican problem before Huerta will be in position to use the arms and ammunition landed at Puerto Mexico was the position taken at the White House to-day.

The situation is now very encouraging, it was said, but to say that a protocol has already been drawn is very premature.

An agreement as to the Constitutionalists' part in mediation will be reached within 24 hours according to instructions to-day from Judge Estay, Carranza's legal representative.

Closely following the landing of munitions to the Japanese ship at Puerto Mexico, a large contingent from Japan is due at Manzanillo or Balboa Cruz on the west coast.

Treasury experts, discussing the landing of the cargo of the Ypiranga and Bavaria at Puerto Mexico, dismissed as erroneous the theory that the masters of these ships would render themselves liable to punishment by landing the munitions at a port other than that to which they were originally consigned.

Absence of a proper manifest, however, is punishable, and Gen. Funston would be within his rights in detaining the Bavaria, if, as reported, that steamer had appeared at Vera Cruz without such a document.

'LANGLEY'S FOLLY' FLIES LIKE BIRD; CURTISS AT HELM

Inventor Ridiculed for Trying to Sail Heavier-Than-Air Machine Is Vindicated.

HIS OWN MOTOR USED. Proof After Years That His Claims Were Right and That He Lacked Only Skill.

BATH, N. Y., May 28.—S. P. Langley, whose efforts to construct a heavier-than-air machine on the Potomac a decade ago were laughed at by the world, and whose death, close friends said, was due to ridicule of his invention, has been vindicated.

Glenn D. Curtiss to-day made a successful flight here in the same queerly constructed airplane that Langley's ridiculers called "Langley's Folly." The machine was loaned to Curtiss by the Government.

Curtiss not only used Langley's airplane, but he made the flight under power of a motor of Langley's invention. He rose and flew gracefully over Lake Keuka, near Hammondsport, where the Curtiss aviation experiments have been conducted.

The history of Langley's efforts was a string of heartbreaks for the dead pioneer. He went to the Smithsonian Institution of Washington with his "great idea."

He worked long against the heaviest kind of odds, made more hard by the storm of ridicule that met his efforts, until he finally gave up.

Curtiss declared this afternoon that all modern aeroplanes, biplanes and monoplanes, are based directly on Langley's "aerodrome," as the scientist dubbed his model.

Curtiss's flight will have an important bearing on litigation, which has been waged for years to determine the actual inventor of the flying machine.

met Hoe at Fifth avenue and Fifty-third street. "It was raining, and Mr. Hoe came up to us and offered to take us home, as he had an umbrella."

The evening following—Sept. 10, 1911—she and Miss Sullivan met Hoe again at the Cafe Boulevard and not at the Hotel Astor as Miss Sullivan testified. He escorted them home.

"He told us who he was and that he was a married man and had a child eleven months old," the witness continued, again in direct contradiction of Miss Sullivan's story that Hoe represented himself to be a single man.

"Never, at any time I was with Mr. Hoe and Miss Sullivan, did I hear him promise to marry her," the witness continued. "He was simply a Good Samaritan to Miss Sullivan, that was all."

Bundles of letters written by William J. Daly to Arthur I. Hoe, asking the latter for money on the plea that the Daly family would be put out on the street, were introduced to-day in the trial of Miss Mae A. Sullivan's $25,000 breach of promise suit against Hoe.

Daly admitted getting thousands of dollars from Hoe, some of which he used to pay a whole summer's rent of apartments for his family. He even borrowed Hoe's overcoat and told the wealthy defendant that he couldn't see Mrs. Daly and their baby turn out of house and home. For do detective work for Hoe when the latter was trying to silence Miss Sullivan, whose demands for aid were becoming too insistent to please the son of the multi-millionaire printing press manufacturer.

In one of the letters Daly told Hoe that the latter had been falsely accused in the eyes of Mrs. Daly.

"WIFE DIDN'T BELIEVE MISS SULLIVAN'S STORY. "Tell Mrs. Hoe," the witness wrote, "that my wife has turned against her brother because you were falsely accused."

Daly admitted that he was doing "literally nothing" for all the money he received from Hoe, and that while Hoe was giving him money Miss Sullivan was lavishing money and gifts upon Mrs. Daly and the baby.

"How many times did you go and get 'hunks' of money from Hoe?" asked Mr. Hamilton.

"I don't know what you mean by 'hunks,'" the witness said, "but he gave me substantial sums four or five times."

"I got some of the money from Hoe for keeping Miss Sullivan from bothering him, from telephoning him so often," the witness continued, admitting finally that Miss Sullivan constantly telephoned Hoe for money.

"I succeeded pretty well in stopping her," Daly added.

LAWYERS WHO ARRANGED TERMS FOR LOOKING OVER MORGAN BOOKS

FRANCIS L. STETSON

JOSEPH W. FOLK

CHURCHILL QUALIFIES IN FIRST TESTS FOR AVIATOR'S LICENSE

FIRST Lord of British Admiralty Hopes to Take Rank as Regular Airman Next Week.

SALISBURY, England, May 28.—The First Lord of the British Admiralty, Winston Spencer Churchill, to-day accomplished the first series of tests required in order to obtain an air pilot's certificate.

The First Lord hopes to qualify for his certificate next week.

MISS SULLIVAN'S GIRL CHUM REPUDIATES PLAINTIFF IN CASE

(Continued from First Page.)

met Hoe at Fifth avenue and Fifty-third street. "It was raining, and Mr. Hoe came up to us and offered to take us home, as he had an umbrella."

The evening following—Sept. 10, 1911—she and Miss Sullivan met Hoe again at the Cafe Boulevard and not at the Hotel Astor as Miss Sullivan testified. He escorted them home.

"He told us who he was and that he was a married man and had a child eleven months old," the witness continued, again in direct contradiction of Miss Sullivan's story that Hoe represented himself to be a single man.

"Never, at any time I was with Mr. Hoe and Miss Sullivan, did I hear him promise to marry her," the witness continued. "He was simply a Good Samaritan to Miss Sullivan, that was all."

Bundles of letters written by William J. Daly to Arthur I. Hoe, asking the latter for money on the plea that the Daly family would be put out on the street, were introduced to-day in the trial of Miss Mae A. Sullivan's $25,000 breach of promise suit against Hoe.

Daly admitted getting thousands of dollars from Hoe, some of which he used to pay a whole summer's rent of apartments for his family. He even borrowed Hoe's overcoat and told the wealthy defendant that he couldn't see Mrs. Daly and their baby turn out of house and home. For do detective work for Hoe when the latter was trying to silence Miss Sullivan, whose demands for aid were becoming too insistent to please the son of the multi-millionaire printing press manufacturer.

In one of the letters Daly told Hoe that the latter had been falsely accused in the eyes of Mrs. Daly.

"WIFE DIDN'T BELIEVE MISS SULLIVAN'S STORY. "Tell Mrs. Hoe," the witness wrote, "that my wife has turned against her brother because you were falsely accused."

Daly admitted that he was doing "literally nothing" for all the money he received from Hoe, and that while Hoe was giving him money Miss Sullivan was lavishing money and gifts upon Mrs. Daly and the baby.

"How many times did you go and get 'hunks' of money from Hoe?" asked Mr. Hamilton.

"I don't know what you mean by 'hunks,'" the witness said, "but he gave me substantial sums four or five times."

"I got some of the money from Hoe for keeping Miss Sullivan from bothering him, from telephoning him so often," the witness continued, admitting finally that Miss Sullivan constantly telephoned Hoe for money.

"I succeeded pretty well in stopping her," Daly added.

TO SELL BATTLESHIPS IDAHO AND MISSISSIPPI; GREECE READY TO BUY

Daniels Plans to Build New Dreadnought With the $12,000,000 They Will Bring.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—A plan for disposing of the battleships Idaho and Mississippi to a foreign power for just what the United States paid for their construction was laid before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee to-day by Secretary Daniels.

Greece is understood to be negotiating for the Mississippi and the Idaho. The United States has never before sold battleships to a foreign power, although it has condemned them and afterward sold them without armament.

The ships have been in commission since 1908. The Mississippi cost $5,525,000 and the Idaho $5,294,000. Secretary Daniels asked for an amendment to the naval bill permitting the sale and providing that the money be used in the construction of one dreadnought in addition to the two dreadnoughts already provided in the bill as it passed the House.

Secretary Daniels explained to the committee that, while he expected to get about $12,000,000 for the two ships, he would be able to make up the $14,000,000 needed for a new Dreadnought by economy in other lines.

While the name of the nation negotiating for the purchase was kept closely guarded, it was said Greece is anxiously to put her navy more nearly on a footing with Turkey, which recently bought a new Dreadnought built for Brazil in an English shipyard. The proposal for the purchase came from Greece.

Mr. Daniels's proposal met with the approval of a majority of the committee and an amendment embodying the plan was prepared for presentation to the Senate.

APPEAL TO WILSON FOR WOMAN'S RELEASE

Twenty-five Thousand Union Men Join to Free Labor Organizer Jailed for Violating Injunction.

WHEELING, W. Va., May 28.—A movement was started here to-day to have President Wilson intervene for Miss Fannie Sellins, who is confined in Fairmont jail for violating the injunction of Judge A. G. Day in connection with the miners' strike at Colliers, W. Va. Twenty-five thousand postcards were sent to union labor men by the Ohio Valley Trades Assembly asking them to urge the President to order Miss Sellins's release.

Miss Sellins was an organizer of the National Garment Workers' Union and is said to have worked among the families of the striking miners.

SELF-DEFENSE HIS PLEA.

Suspect Said to Admit He Killed Companion at Point Pleasant.

POINT PLEASANT, N. J., May 28.—William J. Bond, who was arrested here yesterday afternoon and charged with the murder of John Mafer, whose nude body was found in a room in a vacant summer cottage yesterday, admitted to the authorities to-day, they say, that he killed Mafer in self-defense. The charge of murder was laid against him and he was arraigned before Justice Albert Allen and committed without bail to the county jail of Tomp River. The coroner's inquest will be held on Saturday.

There were evidences of a fight in the room where the body lay, and the head had been crushed in with a heavy blow delivered, it is thought, with a wine bottle. It is said that the two men entered the cottage, which stands apart in a grove of cedars, to get a drink and to get a change of night. They are said to have become drunk and then Bond says they fought and he killed his companion.

Bodman is Buried at Vera Cruz. WASHINGTON, May 28.—Alfred J. Straka, of Cleveland, ordinary seaman on the Texas, was drowned alongside that vessel at Vera Cruz to-day, according to a Navy Department report to-day. The body was recovered.

THIEF CHASE ON 'L' FORCES FUGITIVE TO LEAP TO STREET

Hotly Pursued by Man Whose Watch He Grabbed as Train Starts.

DIVES OUT OF WINDOW. Early Risers in Bronx See a Spectacle Worthy of the Movies.

Samuel Rampli, on his way home early this morning to No. 1866 Bathurst avenue, Bronx, in a Third Avenue elevated train, sat beside an open window. As the train pulled out of the One Hundred and Sixty-sixth street station he felt a hand tug at his watch and saw it disappearing in the possession of a youth who was running down the platform toward the stairs. With a yell Rampli dived through the window after him and landed flat on the platform. He was on his feet in an instant and started after the thief.

The latter saw his escape cut off by the stairs, for the moving train had carried Rampli past him before the former dived out of the window, so the fugitive turned to the tracks and leaped down onto the pathway beside them. Rampli jumped after him and the two raced along the narrow path, Rampli making the night resound with his shouts. Windows along the elevated structure flew up and men and women poked their heads out to learn the cause of the noise. In the street below belated wayfarers, catching sight of the chase on the elevated structure, followed along on the pavement. From the One Hundred and Sixty-sixth street station a special policeman, hearing the cries, jumped onto the tracks and started forward to intercept the thief.

At sight of the policeman the fellow hesitated. Behind him Rampli was almost within reach. Ahead of him the special policeman was racing toward him. The man threw a leg over the low railing beside the tracks, let himself down by his hands and dropped into the street. Rampli and the special policeman ran back to the station and made their way to the street by the stairs. They found a crowd gathered around Policeman Barrow of the Morrisania station and a youth who was loudly protesting his innocence. The policeman held Rampli's watch and chain.

The young prisoner said that he was Nicholas Murphy, an eighteen-year-old clerk in the New Heaven Building, Bronx. He denied that he had touched Rampli's watch or had even been on the elevated station platform. He said he had been walking toward his home at No. 151 Willis avenue from a party in Tinton avenue and had been passing under the elevated when he heard the yell and looked up in time to see a young man drop beside him. The watch fell from the fellow's hand as he landed, said Murphy, and then he picked himself up and ran. Barrow rushed up and grabbed him.

The policeman said he hadn't seen Murphy jump, but he had seen him on his hands and knees in the street and beside him the watch as though he had just dropped it, so he looked the youth up.

Magistrate House in the Morrisania Court held Murphy in $2,500 bail for examination to-morrow.

DAVIS CUP COMMITTEE TO TRY OUT CRESCENT COURTS.

At a meeting to-day of the international committee in charge of the Davis tennis cup matches two letters were read—one from Canada and the other from Australia; in which these nations agree to meet in this country in their preliminary trials.

After the meeting Secretary Adams stated that the committee would inspect the turf courts of the Crescent Athletic Club at Bay Ridge this afternoon and try out the playing surfaces. It is also probable that the turf of the West Side Club at Forest Hills, L. I., will be tried out again. The condition of the courts at Longwood, Oronotus and the Allentown Country Club is known to be fine and fit and needs no trial.

KILLS HIMSELF BY GAS.

Wrote He Did Not Wish His Identity Known.

A man about thirty years old, who registered at the Broadway Central Hotel last night as Thomas Deenan, was found dead in his room to-day. He had killed himself by inhaling gas.

In a note written to the hotel management the suicide stated that the name he had signed to the register was fictitious and he did not desire his identity known. There were no laundry marks on his linen. His clothing had been brought in Providence. He had no money and no papers. There are scars on the right wrist and right forearm which may be marks of burns.

P. S. Commissioner Wood sworn in. Robert Colgate Wood, appointed by Gov. Glynn as Public Service Commissioner, to succeed John E. Rustis, took the oath of office to-day in the Bronx County Courthouse before Justice John J. Brady.

CLIMB WALL LIKE FLIES AND RESCUE FAMILY FROM BURNING HOUSE

First Man Up Goes Three Stories on Outside and Passes Five in Peril Down.

Early risers, attracted by A. H. Frager's yell for help, ran to the three-story stone building at No. 23 Railroad Place, Newark, to-day, where a fire burning in the basement, had cut off escape by the stairway, and they saw George Viletto of No. 215 Walnut street climbing up the side of the building like a human fly. In answer to the calls for help the young man had climbed up a barber pole till he got to the coping over a store window on the lower floor and then, fixing his fingers and toes in interstices between the stones, he clambered from window to window till he reached the third floor where Frager, his wife and three small children, lodgers, were leaning out.

Behind Viletto, William Cameron of No. 24 Mulberry place made the perilous climb to a window on the second floor, while Policeman Arthur Collins got up to the first floor. Policeman Murray stood in the street.

Then, one by one, Viletto lowered first the children, then the woman and last of all Frager, dropping them by the hands as low as he could until Cameron could reach them and lower them to Collins and then Murray. Thus all seven reached the street safely, and by then the firemen arrived and got the rescuers down.

How the fire started is not known. It was confined to the cellar and did little damage except to fill the house with smoke.

DOUBLE SLAYER MUST DIE IN THE CHAIR

Manslaughter to Kill Policeman, but Murder to Shoot Citizen, Jury Finds.

Giuseppe Mirena, who killed a policeman and a citizen in Brooklyn last winter and luckily escaped with a conviction of manslaughter with the first degree for the murder of the policeman, was found guilty to-day of murder in the first degree in the Kings County Court on its indictment charging him with killing the citizen. This insures the execution of Mirena, an alien, unable to speak English.

Policeman Murtha of the Bergen street station noted something suspicious about Mirena at Fourth and Hoyt streets, commanded him to halt and began to run his hands over the man's clothing in search of a pistol. Mirena had a pistol. He drew it and shot the policeman dead.

Mirena ran. James O'Connell, a plucky young man, attempted to stop him. Mirena shot and killed O'Connell and threw away his revolver, but was captured a short distance from the scene of the crime.

AMUSEMENTS

Manhattan Ave. Theatre and Roof. 109th St., Man. Ave. and 15th St.

REKED.—MRS. DURAN P. REED, widow of Speaker Thomas B. Reed, died very suddenly this morning at her home in Portland, Me.

CARPET CLEANING

REPAIRS, REWEAVING, RESTORATION. 363 West 6th St. BROOKLYN.

VERY CHOICE NEW HOMES

Described, priced, and shown. 1000 Madison Ave. Real Estate for Sale—BROOKLYN.

Special for Thursday

SPANISH ALMOND NOUGAT—Soft, creamy, little bits of almond, chocolate, generously studded with all sorts of nuts, each piece wrapped in sanitary Paraffin Paper. 15c

MILK CHOCOLATE COVERS—Having recently contracted with a large Southern State for the exclusive right to sell the most tempting and healthful fruit just as Nature made it to us, we are now offering this delicious and healthy Premium Milk Chocolate. 29c

MILK CHOCOLATE COVERS—This is always found to be the most delicious and healthful of all chocolates. 25c

MILK CHOCOLATE WAFERS—A select assortment of dainty little wafers, in many attractive shapes, made from our famous Premium Milk Chocolate, of unsurpassed richness and purity. A value without parallel. 39c

64 BROADWAY STREET. Lobl 11 Street. 472 1/2 FULTON STREET, BROOKLYN. The special weight includes the container in each case.

HOT WAVE IS GONE; BREEZE TEMPERS HEAT

Moderate Temperature and Little Humidity Makes To-Day Pleasant.

A brisk northwesterly breeze tempered the heat of the sun to-day and made life worth living. There is no immediate probability of a recurrence of the heat wave which was broken up by yesterday afternoon's spectacular storm.

The temperature of the street level was at 77 degrees at 9 o'clock this morning and slowly climbing. There was little moisture in the air, however, and out of the direct rays of the sun conditions of comfort prevailed.

Off to the westward are the makings of more thunderstorms. As soon as the weather gets too hot one of these storms will assemble and haul itself upon us with the effect of lowering the temperature and washing off the city.

Six deaths are attributed to the two-day heat wave and the storm that broke it up.

Wanamaker Store to Honor Dead Man. (Special to The Evening World.) NEWARK, N. J., May 28.—John Wanamaker's New York store will be closed for fifteen minutes during the funeral services on Saturday of Edwin Edward Cassell, who for more than twenty-five years was a silk buyer for the firm. Mr. Cassell died yesterday morning at his home, No. 383 Clinton avenue, this city. His body will be taken to Philadelphia for interment in West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

Wanamaker Store to Honor Dead Man. (Special to The Evening World.) NEWARK, N. J., May 28.—John Wanamaker's New York store will be closed for fifteen minutes during the funeral services on Saturday of Edwin Edward Cassell, who for more than twenty-five years was a silk buyer for the firm. Mr. Cassell died yesterday morning at his home, No. 383 Clinton avenue, this city. His body will be taken to Philadelphia for interment in West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

Hays Hair Health

Restores natural and youthful color and beauty to grey or faded hair. Positively removes dandruff—promotes a thick, healthy growth—keeps hair soft and glossy.

Is not a dye. Your money best if you will. We and all dealers—for retail also send the dealer's name to Philip Hays Specialties Co., Newark, N. J., U. S. A.

DOUBLE SLAYER MUST DIE IN THE CHAIR

Manslaughter to Kill Policeman, but Murder to Shoot Citizen, Jury Finds.

Giuseppe Mirena, who killed a policeman and a citizen in Brooklyn last winter and luckily escaped with a conviction of manslaughter with the first degree for the murder of the policeman, was found guilty to-day of murder in the first degree in the Kings County Court on its indictment charging him with killing the citizen. This insures the execution of Mirena, an alien, unable to speak English.

Policeman Murtha of the Bergen street station noted something suspicious about Mirena at Fourth and Hoyt streets, commanded him to halt and began to run his hands over the man's clothing in search of a pistol. Mirena had a pistol. He drew it and shot the policeman dead.

Mirena ran. James O'Connell, a plucky young man, attempted to stop him. Mirena shot and killed O'Connell and threw away his revolver, but was captured a short distance from the scene of the crime.

AMUSEMENTS

Manhattan Ave. Theatre and Roof. 109th St., Man. Ave. and 15th St.

REKED.—MRS. DURAN P. REED, widow of Speaker Thomas B. Reed, died very suddenly this morning at her home in Portland, Me.

CARPET CLEANING

REPAIRS, REWEAVING, RESTORATION. 363 West 6th St. BROOKLYN.

VERY CHOICE NEW HOMES

Described, priced, and shown. 1000 Madison Ave. Real Estate for Sale—BROOKLYN.

Special for Thursday

SPANISH ALMOND NOUGAT—Soft, creamy, little bits of almond, chocolate, generously studded with all sorts of nuts, each piece wrapped in sanitary Paraffin Paper. 15c

MILK CHOCOLATE COVERS—Having recently contracted with a large Southern State for the exclusive right to sell the most tempting and healthful fruit just as Nature made it to us, we are now offering this delicious and healthy Premium Milk Chocolate. 29c

MILK CHOCOLATE COVERS—This is always found to be the most delicious and healthful of all chocolates. 25c

MILK CHOCOLATE WAFERS—A select assortment of dainty little wafers, in many attractive shapes, made from our famous Premium Milk Chocolate, of unsurpassed richness and purity. A value without parallel. 39c