

SLENDER WAISTS OF '50'S RETURN

May Form the Real Basis of 1914 Fashion, Says Paris.

Mme. Duval Says a Marked Softening in Outline of Draped Figure Constitutes the Mode.

By MME. RENEE DUVAL.

Special Cable to The Washington Herald, Paris, July 18.—The return of the slender waist of the '50's is merely a sporadic manifestation. We are to congratulate ourselves upon this fact, as well as upon renewed evidence of the abandonment of freakish modes by the really elegant and refined.

The confusion, almost chaos, of fashion which has prevailed for six months past has served at least an experimental purpose, and out of it we may hope, is beginning to be evolved the characteristic mode of 1914.

There is a marked softening of the outline of the draped figure. It may be said without extravagance that it is a return to the line of beauty on the part of those, at least, who must look to the possession of that line, because of the exigencies of Dame Nature.

Venus Waist Favored. To those whom nature has endowed with this line, it is equally welcome, for they are no longer forced by the despotic authority of fashion to pervert or disguise it. The Venus de Milo waist is that most favored. The amplitude of the skirt and corsege throws it into marked relief. The importance of the cape and the mantle is lessened, and the dress is now made like the jacket to be changed with each change of robe. Country dresses are now the chief novelties, and the most interesting. They are made of light and airy materials, and are adorned with artificial flowers, are much in vogue. A gown, half-halter, half-mousseline de soie, with a lace corsage, and a broad, ruffled belt, although like a stomacher, and of the same material, buttoned in front, is completed by a very short bolero, with a border founce in ruffles, forming both the collar and the all-around edge, as well as the bottom of the elbow sleeves.

Other Modes Described. The tunic, also buttoned in front, falls just below the hips, and is supplemented by an overcoat, reaching midway of the legs. A robe of white linen, the skirt looped up the side, with a belt of the same material, has a corsage in a kimono style, with a band of brocade stuff over the shoulders, and a lace corsage, and the elbow sleeves being of white washable tulle.

The corsage is bordered at the neck and bottom with a narrow tulle lace, and is fastened at the front. The collar proper is of the Medici type.

Another country gown of ecri linen is embellished with lace and ribbon, and is rather, not short on the skirt, but also on the short bolero, the border of which is cut on each side in the similitude of a leaf.

FIRE ON BIG LINER

Glasgow, July 18.—Fire broke out today in the provision storeroom of the Cunard liner Campania, and for a time the liner was threatened with serious damage. Firemen and members of the crew were finally able to control the blaze and confine it to the department where it originated. The loss was slight.

BEER MADE AT HOME

ANY ONE CAN NOW MAKE BEER AT HOME FOR ONE CENT A GLASS. Cincinnati, Ohio, July 18.—By a new method of concentration, a brewer of this city has discovered a process whereby real beer can now be furnished in a concentrated form. He furnishes the barley malt, hops, and other necessary ingredients in a concentrated form so that by only the addition of water and a little sugar a sparkling foaming glass of beer can be quickly prepared. It is said that this beer is far superior to the regular brewery beer, and thousands are already making their own beer at home.

Greeks and Turks in Race for Navy

READY TO SPRING AT EACH OTHER'S THROAT 150,000 Hellenes Driven from Home

Each Nation Ordering Dreadnoughts as Fast as Money Can Buy Them. Turkey Is Ready to Claim the Aegean Islands as Soon as Latest Battleship Arrives.

Athens, July 18.—Turkey, since the second Balkan war has driven 150,000 Greeks from Asia Minor in a most iron-handed manner. If she persists in her determination of expelling the 2,500,000 Hellenes still within her borders another sanguinary conflict is probably unavoidable. While the Greeks are leaving their homes in Turkish territory against their will and are seeing their possessions confiscated until they are reduced to paupers, a similar large exodus of Turks is taking place in Macedonia and other northern sections now under the rule of King Constantine. But the Turks are leaving of their own free will in anticipation of a triumphant return under the guard of Turkish bayonets. Meanwhile on both sides war preparations go on feverishly. Despite her impoverished condition, Turkey is carrying out a great naval program. Messrs. Vickers, of England, who are completing the Reshadieh to the order of the Ottoman government, have just received an order for a second battleship to be built at one of her yards. The latter is 325 feet long, has a displacement of 23,000 tons and carries ten 12-inch guns with a smaller battery. Another vessel designed for the Turkish navy is being completed on the Tyne. It is the Sultan Osman L., which was launched by the British under the name of the Rio de Janeiro, but has since been purchased by Turkey for more than $2,000,000. Orders also have been given for the hulls of two scouts to be built on the Tyne and the machinery at Barrow. So anxious is the Turkish marine minister to obtain his Dreadnoughts that he is willing to accept them without trial, without cabins, without the final coating of paint and even with one gun.

NEAR DEATH IN OLD CHURCH

Aged Woman, Mistaken for Ghost, Found Half Starved. Lancaster, Pa., July 15.—Five weeks spent without food in the old Presbyterian Church at Churchtown, near here, during which time she was mistaken for a ghost, have almost killed Miss Cummings, fifty-year-old daughter of Mrs. James L. Cummings, of the Flatbush section of Brooklyn. For many years weird stories have been told about the old church, and lately several persons have claimed to have seen the face of a spook at the windows of the building, found Miss Cummings lying in the church, her clothes in tatters and her person emaciated. She was removed to a nearby residence and a doctor summoned. She was identified by friends of the family, and her relatives in Brooklyn were notified. The Cummings family used to live in this house when Miss Cummings was a child. Her mother is the widow of Dr. James L. Cummings.
