

Official Notice

Under the provisions of Chapter 143 of the laws of Utah, 1911, which provides for the eradication of noxious weeds, the County Road Commissioner of Iron County has been appointed Ex-officio Weed Inspector, with full power and authority to require persons, companies and corporations owning lands in this county to keep same clear of noxious weeds, and also all rights of way for canals, reservoirs, dams, ditches or any kind of artificial water courses.

Every person, company or corporation owning or controlling lands in this county, are hereby notified, that the provisions of said laws will be enforced. Uncultivated desert lands are exempted under the law.

Immediate action is necessary to prevent the ripening of the seed, and will save the commissioner from the embarrassing position to proceed arbitrarily in the matter.

H. M. HENDERSON,
t40 Ex-Officio Weed Inspector.

Battleship New Hampshire's Stern Battered by Collision With Steamer

OFFICIALS of the New York navy yard, where the battleship New Hampshire was put in drydock after her recent collision with the Fall River line steamer Commonwealth, estimate that the repairs to the battleship will require two months and will cost upward of $40,000. The collision occurred in Narragansett bay, and the New Hampshire's stern plate on the starboard side was jammed in about four inches, and the plate was sprung. A court of inquiry will report to Washington on the responsibility for the accident. Officers of the battleship charge that it was due to the high speed of the steamer through the fog that prevailed at the time. While the New Hampshire is out of commission her place in the fleet will be taken by the Alabama, which has been out of commission for the past two years and which is now in the first reserve.
