LINA STILL GETS BILLY

Doux by Cable But What Bob Really Thinks Would Fill a Book.

Paris, Sept. 12.—Madame Lina Cavalieri has not yet clinched her hold on the fortune of Robert W. Chanler, the New York millionaire. She admitted as much to a representative of the United Press, who called on her today at her apartments in the Rue Messine. "All these statements of the absurdly large amounts of money I have received from my husband are mere fiction," said the beautiful diva. "It is true that a marriage settlement was arranged and signed before the American consul, but such procedure is the very commonest over here and is never looked upon in the light in which it is viewed by America. Robert realized this and made no objection to the compact. It is true that some of the details of the agreement have never been settled and my attorneys are attending to those."

Cavalieri tactfully admitted that there had been some slight hitch between herself and her husband over these details, but insisted that it was a triviality and had not in any sense disrupted their marriage bliss. In proof of this she showed the embarrassed another loving cablegram received from her husband today.

Gas lighting has recently been introduced in Japan, and ten new companies are to be floated.

The battleship North Dakota; Captain Albert Gleaves her commander and map showing where an explosion of oil fuel on the vessel killed three and injured nine. The accident occurred far from any shore and for several hours the wildest rumors circulated, one being that the ship and its companion the Delaware had blown up. The three killed were all coal passengers. Two warrant officers were among the injured. A board of inquiry will be called to investigate the disaster. It is understood that it was not due to the remissness of any on board. The oil fuel was being used for a test on one boiler.

EVEN CHAMP CLARK CAN

See the Republican Ship Swamped on the Rolling Billows of Defeat.

By United Press Wire. Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 13.—A general victory for the Democratic party in the November elections was foreseen today as a result of the Maine victory, by Missouri's leaders in congress, who this afternoon will frame a state platform. Champ Clark, Democratic leader in congress, and James T. Lloyd, chairman of the Democratic national congressional campaign committee, appeared early among the convention delegates.

"The news from Maine should give heart and hope to every Democrat and to every lover of good government betwixt the two seas," said Clark, whose countenance indicated that his hopes of succeeding Uncle Joe Cannon in the speaker's chair were greatly enhanced. "I am gratified at the news from Maine," said Lloyd. "It is another of the many indications of the trend of public sentiment and fully corroborated the predictions of the Democratic congressional committee."

Congressman Clark, in the following written interview for the United Press, accounts for the Maine landslide: "Beginning with Dickinson's great midwinter triumph in the Sixth Missouri district, the trend of events has been decidedly in favor of the Democrats; but, of course, the sweeping victory in Maine is the best evidence that the people have grown weary of being deceived, maltreated and betrayed by the Republican bosses. The great reduction in the Republican majority in Vermont, which, if projected all over the country, would give us such a majority in the house as to be unwieldy, was explained away by saying that a heavy rainstorm did it, as if Republicans are any more afraid of rainstorms than Democrats. But the weather conditions in Maine are said to have been ideal. The Republicans ran into a fierce storm in Maine, but it was a storm of the people's wrath. We will trounce them out of their boots in November."

Pier Who Were Watching "the Little Ball Roll" Are Apprehensive that their Names will be Mentioned.

By United Press Wire. Narragansett, R. I., Sept. 13.—There was weeping and wailing and some little gnashing of pearly teeth among the society matrons of Narragansett Pier—report of the "Four Hundred"—when Judge Nathan Lewis called the trials of William E. Arnold and Chief of Police James D. Caswell, arrested in connection with a raid of the Narragansett club last month. The society matrons fear that their names are to be shouted in a police court as having been in the club when the raid was made. Most of the women who were reported to have been "watching the little ball roll" when Reform Constable John G. Cross and his deputies crashed into the club room have left the pier but those who remained were very anxious today for Cross had announced his intention of making public a list of those in the club when the raid was made, as soon as the trials were well under way.

BEVERIDGE SAYS MAINE

Election Was Only a Repealation of Aldrich Tariff Law and Its Defenders.

By United Press Wire. Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—"The result in Maine was neither Democratic nor Republican—it was non-partisan," said Senator Beveridge today. "I am familiar with the people of Maine because I have spent several summers there. They are conservative, well-informed, determined. "Both Maine senators and all the Maine congressmen were ardent supporters of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and Senator Hale has been its most determined advocate and de-
