

News of the Week as Caught by the Camera for Readers of The Journal

LOADING TRANSPORT HANCOCK WITH WAR MUNITIONS

Among the war vessels at Vera Cruz is the transport Hancock, which is carrying a great store of war munitions for the fleet. The loading of this vessel at the New Orleans docks is depicted in this photograph.

HUERTISTA ARTILLERY IN ACTION

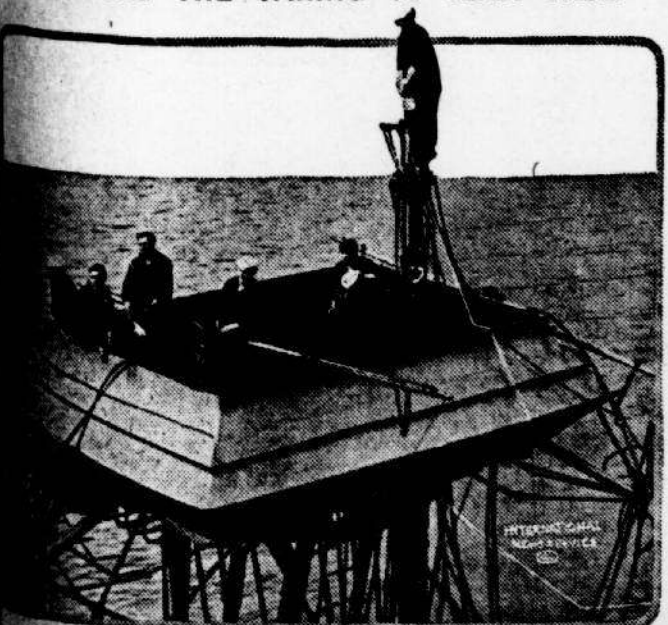

A detachment of Huerta's field artillery is here shown in action. These men are well-drilled and have considerable ammunition for their modern guns.

SOME OF HUERTA'S CAVALRYMEN

This picture of a detachment of federal cavalry was taken during a parade of the troops through the streets of Mexico City, at the height of the Huertista movement over the breaking out of hostilities with the United States.

WATCHING THE TAKING OF VERA CRUZ

Members of the crew of the battleship Florida in the control top of the ship, watching the progress of their fellows in the capture of Vera Cruz.

REAR ADMIRAL BEATTY

Rear Admiral Frank E. Beatty is in command of the third division of the North Atlantic fleet.

BATTLESHIP IN ACTION

This is one of the greatest fighting vessels of the American navy, commanding head on and firing a broadside.

AMERICAN ARTILLERYMEN WORKING A FIELDPIECE

Regular army gunners from the forces now in Texas, loading one of their efficient fieldpieces.

FAREWELL TO THEIR BLUEJACKET BOY

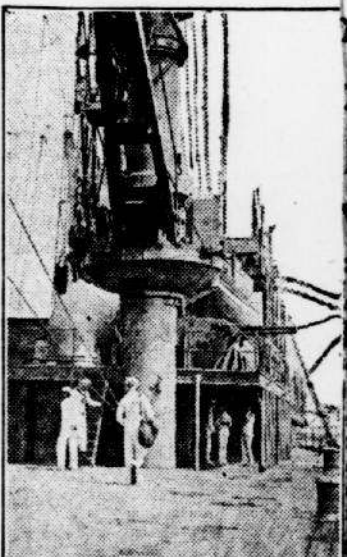

This scene, of a father, mother and sisters bidding farewell to the young bluejacket, who is about to sail away for service against the Mexicans, is being repeated over and over these days at every navy yard.

REAR ADMIRAL MAYO

Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo, in command of the American warships at Tampico, whose demand that Huerta salute the flag precipitated the trouble with the Mexican dictator.

ON THE QUARTERDECK

Scene on the quarterdeck of one of Uncle Sam's dreadnaughts in Mexican waters.

LEADER OF CRACK AMERICAN TROOPS

This is Captain Smith of the Twentieth United States Infantry, one of the most efficient regiments now on the Mexican border.

TWO OF THE FEDERAL GENERALS

Gen. Miguel Alvarez (right), two of the federal generals.

HOLE IN SUSPENDERS SETS YOUTH ON FIR

Making of Aperture Causes Friction and an Odd Fatality in Explosives Mill.

North Bay, Ont.—William Stuart, aged nineteen, died at North Bay hospital as result of burns received in the factory of the Cheddite Explosive company, at Whillfield, 12 miles from here, where he was employed. From the evidence of fellow workmen, at an inquest held before Coroner Campbell Stuart was making a hole in his suspenders, which, being impregnated with chloride and highly inflammable, ignited from friction.

His outer working clothes were a bestos material, but his underclothing caught fire, and, being full of chlorid flamed up so quickly that he was frightfully injured before he had time to take measures of safety. Stuart jumped into a tub of water placed there for the purpose, but the damage had been done.

His Clothes Flamed Up.

Precautions taken at the factory give evidence of how dangerous the work is, not from explosion alone, but from fire, as everything becomes saturated with the explosive ingredients so that the slightest friction, even the tearing of a piece of cloth, will start a fire. One of the boasts of the company, however, is that the explosive will burn without exploding.

Employees upon entering the building must strip to the skin, pass into another room and under a shower bath. Next they enter a third room where their working clothes are put on, and only then can the workroom be entered. Coming out the same procedure is followed, making four shower baths per day for each employee.

Stuart was driven 12 miles to North Bay hospital, but his life could not be saved.

MAN AND TURTLE IN CELL

St. Louis Citizen With a Broken Neck Arrested With a Pugna-cious Partner.

St. Louis, Mo.—Teddy W. Peters, forty years old, was arrested with his pet turtle at the corner of Sixth street and Washington avenue. Peters carries a card issued by the Structural Iron Workers' union, which certifies he has a broken neck, suffered when he fell 316 feet from the Quebec bridge, a disaster resulting in the death of 90 men.

Peters says his wife died from the shock when the news of the falling bridge reached her. The turtle, evidently older than the oldest inhabitant, has formed an offensive and defensive alliance with the broken-necked bridge worker.

They were together, when the arrest was made, for disorderly conduct, and when Peters was put in the automobile patrol wagon he asked Officers Tyndall and Ishing to wait a moment for his partner. They waited and allowed Peters to step out with the harness around his head which keeps his head on straight, and walk over to the curbstone and get his friend, a massive sea turtle weighing 75 pounds.

Just to show that he was a good pal, the turtle took a chunk out of Ishing's coat as he was being loaded in the patrol auto, and when he reached the central district police station, having missed his supper, he pried a steak loose from Officer Tyndall's leg.

Peters was sent back to a cell, but the turtle was allowed to roam until he showed further carnivorous desires. Then he was allowed to waddle back to the cell of his side partner, where both slept.

CHASES WIFE ACROSS OCEAN

"Million-dollar Kid" Wants Her to Call Off Divorce Suit Planned Against Him.

New York.—"Is my wife here?" was the first thing asked by Byron Chandler, "the million-dollar kid," as he stepped off the plank of the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria.

When told that she had arrived on the Lusitania eight days ago he inquired anxiously, "has she started action yet?" and when being answered in the affirmative he continued: "I hope I am not too late. I am sure we can make it up if I can only see her. We can then go back to Europe and peace."

He refused to discuss the cause of the breach between him and his wife, who was Grace Larue, the actress. At the time of her arrival on the Lusitania Mrs. Chandler said that she intended bringing suit for divorce, and said that there were several women in the case, but declared she would not name any of them if she could make proper arrangements with her mother-in-law to bring the action on general grounds.

No. 2. apt Auto repairing LE RATES. VN & GAINES

College, Vicksburg VICTUCTION IN and Art Schools the great Vicksburg National Military State, 250 feet above the River, upon Mississippi. Session for information, Address COLLEGE, G, MISS.