

KARL KREELY OF LOGAL FAME IS IN GLOBE JAIL

Is Arrested for Arson on New Evidence That is Regarded as Strong—Quarrel Reveals Fire Bug.

Carl Kreely, the subject of the following sensational news from Globe, will be remembered as formerly the proprietor of a general merchandise store at Lowell. He went to Globe from here and started another store, having been compelled to close his business at Lowell through the action of creditors. While here his name was spelled Karl Kreely. The Globe Silver Bell says:

Carl Kreely, who figured in police court circles several months ago, when a charge of arson was filed against him, as the result of the burning of a building occupied by a clothing store of which he was the proprietor, was re-arrested yesterday as the result of evidence which, the police claim, points strongly to his guilt.

With Kreely's arrest came that of Gregorio Vetrano, said to have been the man who actually set fire to the building, under Kreely's direction and under pay from him.

Both men are in jail with their bail fixed at $1000 each. Both protest their innocence, in spite of the strong claims of the police.

The arrest of the two men came as the result, the police claim, of Vetrano's refusal to meet an obligation of $150 which money he secured on the strength of his contract with Kreely to burn the latter's store and threats which he made against the life of the man to whom he is said to have owed the money.

This man, whose name has not as yet been divulged by the authorities, but who is under close surveillance, appealed to City Marshal Anderson for protection, after Vetrano had threatened to shoot him unless he left this city at once. What he claims to have been the entire plot which resulted in the burning of Kreely's store, was revealed to Marshal Anderson, Tuesday night, when the latter answered his appeal for aid.

"The circumstances surrounding the arrest of Kreely and Vetrano are this," said City Marshal Anderson yesterday, in speaking of the affair.

"Tuesday afternoon I received a telephone call from a rooming house in the lower part of the city from a man who claimed that he was in danger of being killed. I thought he was drunk and as I was busy with tax collections, I did not visit him until evening.

"When I arrived at his room, I found the door barricaded. The man admitted me, when he found I was an officer, and asked me to protect him from Vetrano, who he said I was trying to kill him.

"He said that several months ago in Albuquerque, Vetrano had borrowed $150 from him, telling him that he was to pay him an amount of money from Kreely within a short time. He claimed that after he had paid over the money that Vetrano told him that he was to get the money from Kreely for burning his store.

"He claimed that after the store was burned, he came to Globe and asked Vetrano for the money but was put off on the claim that Kreely had not received his insurance money, which was in litigation.

"He said he came back to Globe a few days ago and on Tuesday met Kreely and Vetrano on the street. Vetrano took him to one side, he said, and when he asked for the money, told him that if he did not get out of town on the next train that he would shoot him.

"I found Vetrano early yesterday morning and placed him under arrest. He declined to say anything about the affair, except to say that he had had nothing to do with the Kreely fire.

"I am convinced that he is the man we want, however. He answers the description of the man seen by C. N. Nielsen, as he was running away from the fire, and the route he took as was afterwards traced out, leads toward the place he was staying at that time. We suspected him then, but as we had no proof, he was not arrested."

"The man who gave us the information has not been arrested, but

UNKNOWN MAN COMMITS SUICIDE BY ROPE ROUTE

(Exclusive Dispatch.)

TOMBSTONE, Jan. 14.—A telephone message was received at the sheriff's office this morning from Johnson that an unknown man had committed suicide at that place last night by hanging himself. The stranger came to Johnson a few days since and secured work in the restaurant as a dish washer. He failed to show up this morning, and later his body was found hanging to a rafter in the room where he slept. He had during the night fixed the rope over his head and getting once hung, kicked it out from under him, allowing himself to strangle to death. Owing to the illness of the justice of the precinct, it was necessary to send to Benson for Coroner Stillman to go up and take charge of the inquest. There was nothing on the body at the time it was found to give any clue as to who the stranger might be. The inquest which was held late this afternoon may have been able to develop some additional facts in regard to the case, but no further advice was received at the sheriff's office.

Grand Jury Prisoner Arriving.

Although the grand jury up to the name of their adjournment took action on all of the cases of those who were held in the county jail to await the action of that body, there are now several cases that have been received since, and three prisoners are now held in the county jail on felony charges to await the action of the April term grand jury. Luis Nieves is held on a charge of burglary alleged to have been committed by Courtland when it is charged he entered the saloon of one Frank Zende and stole a large quantity of liquors and cigars. Judging from the amount of liquor that he took he must have had an idea that the county was going dry and that he would lay in a supply of wet goods to last him for a while.

The others held are George August and Mrs. Susana August, who are held on charges of grand larceny, alleged to have been committed in Douglas, when they stole a quantity of money from a woman fortune teller residing in that locality.

He is under close surveillance and will be on hand when wanted.

Kreely was arrested at Miami by Deputy Sheriff Eugene Shute. When questioned regarding his arrest, he claimed that he knew nothing of the cause of his arrest, except that he imagined that it had something to do with the trouble which caused his arrest after the fire which destroyed his store.

Kreely fell under suspicion shortly after the fire which destroyed his store and stock of goods, as it was apparently of incendiary origin. He was given a "thorough examination and discharged, as he proved an alibi."

TAFT ASKS FOR GREAT SUMS IN HIS MESSAGE

Emphasizes the Great Importance of Conserving the Nation's Resources, and Points Out the Difficulties Ahead.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—President Taft's special message on conservation was sent to congress today and is as follows:

"To the senate and house of representatives:

"In my annual message I reserved the subject of the conservation of our natural resources for discussion in a special message as follows:

"In several departments there is presented the necessity for legislation looking to the further conservation of our natural resources and the subject is one of such importance as to require a more detailed and extended discussion than can be entered upon in this communication. For this reason, I shall take an early opportunity to send a special message to congress on the subject of the improvement of our waterways; upon the reclamation and irrigation of arid, semi-arid and swamp lands; upon the preservation of our forests and the reforestation of suitable areas; upon the reclassification of the public domain with a view of separating from agricultural settlement, mineral coal and phosphate lands and sites belonging to the government bordering on streams suitable for the utilization of water power.

"In 1860 we had a public domain of 1,055,911,288 acres. We have now 721,354,081 acres, confined largely to the mountain ranges and the arid and semi-arid plains. We have in addition, 368,025,975 acres of land in Alaska.

"The public lands were, during the earliest administration, treated as a national asset for the liquidation of public debt and source of reward for our soldiers and sailors. Later on they were donated in large amounts in aid of the construction of wagon roads and railroads in order to open up regions in the west then almost inaccessible.

"The president discusses the methods of distribution under the laws, the way the lands were grabbed up, the natural impression arising that these should be the prey of the unscrupulous. He speaks of the gigantic frauds which have been perpetrated on the government and the failure of the government to prosecute through the operation of the statute of limitations.

He points out that since his inauguration more power sites have been withdrawn (102 in all) than were ever withdrawn in all time before. He points out that the delays of congress on legislation proposed have lessened the path of the president with difficulties, leaving his course a doubtful one.

"The conservation of the soil, the president declares to be the transcendent problem. He suggests the scientific conservation of old soils, drainage, reclamation projects, levees on rivers, reforestation for thin soils and various other forms of promotion of agriculture, including dry farming.

He demands increased appropriation, through the issuance of $30,000,000 in bonds to aid in completing reclamation projects already begun and their proper extension, to relieve settlers who have taken up tracts which rely on irrigation for utility.

He then treats of inland waterways, favoring appropriations to cover "definitely determined costs only." He asks that more dams be put into the Ohio river at a cost of $25,000,000, suggests improvement of the upper Mississippi between St. Louis and Cairo, and says that the board of army engineers has pronounced these projects feasible.

He concludes: "For reasons which it is not necessary here to state, congress has seen fit to order an investigation into the interior department and the forest service of the agricultural department. The results of that investigation are not needed to determine the value of and the necessity for the new legislation which I have recommended in respect to reclamation. I earnestly urge that the measure recommended be taken up promptly and disposed of promptly, and that without awaiting the investigation that has been determined upon.

(Signed) "WILLIAM H. TAFT. White House, Jan. 14, 1910."

OPPOSED TO PUBLICITY. CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Congress is requested to abolish the publicity feature of the new corporation tax law in a resolution adopted today by 250 delegates, representing sixty important commercial and industrial organizations of the country. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

was made by Clerk Wilcox on Monday last. It is expected that the lot of those who will compose the United States grand jury will be drawn shortly as it is expected that they will convene during the early part of the month of February. Unless the present plan is changed, there will be no session of the United States grand jury at this session of the court, but that the trials will come up during the early part of the April term.

CUMMINGS CHASED OUT OF THE CITY

ALLEGED DOPE FIEND HIES HIM HENCE WHEN FINED HUNDRED PLUNKS.

Arrested on a charge of being a lewd and dissolute person, William Cummings was picked up in the red light district Thursday night by Officer Henry Hall and jailed under the city ordinance dealing with this particular class of vagrants.

Cummings is claimed to not only consort with tenderloin women, but to be a dope fiend as well, though a thorough search failed to locate any of the stuff upon his person.

Before Police Judge Hogan he pleaded guilty and was given the stiff sentence of a 100 day fine or the same number of days in jail. The judge then remitted the jail sentence and gave him an hour to raise the fine. He has not yet paid and it is supposed has made himself scarce.

BULL CAMPAIGN IN COTTON COLLAPSES

BEARS IN COMPLETE CONTROL AND FEELING IN THE TRADE IS BETTER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The bull campaign in cotton definitely collapsed today, with the most spectacular decline seen in a week of erratic recessions. At the low point today New York contracts showed a decline of $5.20 to $5.60 a bale from the closing prices the night previous.

A much better feeling prevails in the trade tonight and it is thought that a quieter market may be expected for the coming week, with prices more generally influenced by legitimate demand and supply.

After the official close May contracts changed hands at $14.10, compared with $12.70, the low point of the day. The mark at which the bears are said to have taken over the bull holdings is $12.50 for May.

Amusements

Joe McKenna's rich voice is once more delighting audiences at the Theatre Royal, where he is again singing illustrated songs at every performance. Needless to say, his numbers are rendered as only he can render them and are productive of hearty applause as of yore. While as a general rule, lady illustrated song artists are the favorites, Mr. McKenna's engagement, which it is understood is only for a brief time, is more than a welcome change, for, being a local boy, he has many friends who delight to hear him and who have more than once expressed regrets that he was not seen in a number or two in the Elks' show "The Man From Boston." Instead of merely singing in the chorus, at that, McKenna's voice was individual recognition and comment at the time.

The change of pictures comprises "The Keeper of the Lighthouse," a dramatic production with some of the best ocean effects on films yet seen, this being especially true in the storm scene. Then there's "In a Homper Bag," in which all kinds of excitement is caused by a baby being placed in a bag in which it was intended to drown some cats, the hired man being ready to throw the bag into the river before an excited crowd rushed up and informed him of the mistake. "The Hero of Marefing" deals with that famous siege during the Boer war and depicts a realistic battle scene. "The Test," a lively comedy of domestic life, completes the bill.

PRINCIPALS TO HAVE ATTORNEYS AT PROBE

BOTH BALLINGER AND PINCHOT ARE TO BE REPRESENTED BY COUNSEL.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The question of whether the witnesses in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation shall be permitted to be represented by counsel was practically decided today, when it was ruled that a witness who found himself accused of wrong doing could not be denied an attorney.

The joint senate and house committee, therefore, has given it out that former Forester Pinchot, dismissed from government service by order of the president, shall be entitled to have a lawyer present throughout the congressional hearing. Secretary Ballinger, likewise, will be entitled to have an attorney present at all times.

It is said the house will win with a provision that the inquiry shall be confined to the present session of congress, with a report before adjournment. This is taken to mean that after the inquiry is concluded President Taft's conservation program will be pressed and legislation enacted at this session. The conferees will conclude their deliberations probably in time to report to the senate Monday.

LIQUIDATION IS PUZZLING. (By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Resumption of liquidation in the stock market to day set conjecture to work for some deeper cause to explain it than the mere superficial influences which have been given responsibility and which are passing away without relieving the market from the depression. The money market passed from a condition of relative to positive ease, but this proved powerless to check the unloading of stocks or stimulate any new demand.
