

WIFE OF THAW BARRED BY STATE FROM NEW TRIAL

Effect on Jury of Her Testimony Against Husband Feared.

PREVIOUS RECORDS TO BE SUBMITTED

Thaw Expects To Be Free in Month, and Joyfully Makes Plans for Future.

Effect on Jury of Her Testimony Against Husband Feared. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw is not expected to be a witness at the contest of Harry K. Thaw for his freedom, which opens before Justice Peter A. Hendrick in the Supreme Court on Tuesday.

Susan Merrill, the resort keeper whose testimony was an important factor in William Travers Jerome's fight to keep Thaw in Matteawan, has thus far not been served with a subpoena, though it is understood the government wishes to use her. In the event of further failure to get service, her previous testimony, like that of Mrs. Thaw, will be read into the record.

The decision of the government not to call Mrs. Thaw is understood to be predicated upon the belief that to put a wife on the stand to testify against her husband under such circumstances would be to create prejudice in the favor of the defendant of the jury. The typed testimony, it is expected, will be nearly as effective, so far as getting her story before the jury is concerned.

Thaw was in a merry mood in Ludlow street jail yesterday. He expected that he will be free within a month, and has already begun to plan his future. His present programme is to return at once to Pittsburgh, and to go to the mountains for a rest. New Hampshire has a strong hold on his affections, and he has expressed his intention of visiting the friends he made while he was writing for the United States Supreme Court to pass upon the question of his extradition.

Witnesses for Thaw began to arrive in New York from Canada and New Hampshire yesterday. There are so many witnesses that the government believes it will take a month to try it. The trial will differ from the criminal trials in which Thaw has figured, in that he and not the government will put in his case in after he has finished.

The Thaw lawyers, John B. Stanchfield and Judge Morgan J. O'Brien, will place their chief reliance on persons who have been familiar with Harry's actions since he left Matteawan without permission, the idea being to show that no matter what his mental condition might have been at the time of the murder of White or at his trial for that crime he is now sane. To show this witness after witness will testify to Thaw's conduct as that of a sane man.

Mr. Cook, on the other hand, will rely largely on the medical record of the case to show that the disease from which it was found Thaw was suffering in Matteawan is not one calculated to make filling the jury box easy. The possibility of being locked up while the trial is in progress, for which it is possible the government will ask to be restricted to increase the desire of witnesses to escape service.

Captain W. J. Lynch, of the court squad, was planning yesterday for a jam of the trial. The attendance will be limited strictly to the seating capacity of Part III, Trial Term, one of the largest trial rooms in the County Courthouse. Most of the room will be reserved for persons and under subpoena and the lawyers and reporters. There will be little room for the general public.

Arizona, World's Mightiest Super-dreadnought, Launched, as Thousands at Navy Yard Cheer

Miss Esther Ross, prettiest girl in Sagebrush State, who christened giant seafighter.

The greatest fighting ships afloat are the U. S. Arizona, launched yesterday, and the British ships of the type of H. M. S. Queen Elizabeth, now engaged in forcing the Dardanelles.

A comparison of the fighting power of these ships gives a slight advantage to the latest addition to Uncle Sam's fleet. While the Queen Elizabeth has a main battery of eight fifteen-inch guns, the Arizona will have twelve fourteen-inch guns. The secondary battery of the British ship consists of sixteen six-inch guns, while the Arizona will have twenty-two five-inch guns.

What advantage this may be is offset by the fact that the Queen is four knots faster than the Arizona, having a speed of twenty-five knots, and her fuel capacity is considerably greater. Both are oil ships, and the tanks on the British ship will accommodate 3,500 tons of the fuel to 2,322 on the American ship.

The displacement of the Queen is 27,500 tons, and its turbine engines can develop 58,000 horsepower. The Arizona has a displacement of 31,400 tons, with 34,000 horsepower. Great Britain paid $11,750,000 for her leviathan, while the Arizona will cost $16,000,000 when completed. Both ships have a complement of about 1,000 men.

door to hear Secretary Daniels's speech which was to follow the luncheon. They found the way blocked by young naval officers, who were "standing on orders," they said, and could admit no one without the special cards. So the Secretary's words, loud as they were, did not reach the newspaper men's ears.

At this juncture came the most impressive spectacle of the entire celebration, for the launching of the Arizona dreadnought to be laid down at the New York Navy Yard, would have electric propulsion. Other speakers were Senator Ashurst, of Arizona; Hilary A. Herbert and Miss Ross.

TWO HELD IN DRUG FRAUD Chemists Accused of Selling Sugar as Consumption Cure.

Magistrate Naumer, in the Manhattan Avenue police court, Williamsburg, yesterday held two druggists, Augustus Wenzel, of 384 Broadway, Williamsburg, and Samuel Wolf, of 341 Bushwick Avenue, in $200 bail each for Special Sessions, under Section 139 of the Sanitary Code, which makes it a misdemeanor to expose for sale misbranded drugs.

DANA BELIEVES WIFE WAS SUICIDE

"Believed Herself Burden in Husband's Life," Says Brother-in-Law.

Boston, Mass., June 19.—The most significant statements made to-day about the suicide in Nantucket surf of Mrs. Jessie Holliday Dana, the "perfect bride" of Edmund Trowbridge Dana, a son of Longfellow, was the remark by Allison Dana, of White Plains, N. Y., brother of Edmund, while standing with the husband of the dead woman at the South Station this afternoon.

BROOKLYN, WAY STATION ON NEW SUBWAY, CHEERS

Young and Old at Cut as First Fourth Avenue Train Goes By.

BAY RIDGE GREETS OFFICIAL PARTY

Mayor Mitchel, Angered by Tardy Arrival of Invitation, Goes to Launching.

There was no other city on the map yesterday, according to Brooklyn. From early morning until sunset youngsters and adults celebrated the opening of the new Fourth Avenue subway, which will ultimately carry thousands of sweltering humanity from the tenements of Manhattan to the cool breezes of Coney Island in a mere thirty minutes—and all for a nickel. All turned out to greet the officials who made the first trip from Chambers Street to Coney Island, and then to Bay Ridge.

Two clouds marred the celebration. One was physical, but the threatening rain was shooed off by the protests of thousands of American flags in the hands of as many children. The other was caused by the absence of Mayor Mitchel, angered because he had not been invited earlier than Friday, the Mayor refused to accompany the official party, and went to the launching of the Arizona.

On the train were members of the Public Service Commission, officials of the B. R. T., members of the citizens' committee that arranged the details of the celebration, and other distinguished guests. The train made its first stop at Coney Island, having made the trip in about forty minutes. It is expected that the time will be cut to thirty minutes.

After five minutes at Coney Island the train shot back to Twenty-second Avenue, where the party got out and marched to Twentieth Avenue.

Thousands of Children March. Just as the travellers arrived at Bay Ridge, Harold Huber, of Public School 94, and his sister, Lillian, six years old, dressed as Uncle Sam and Miss Carter, stretched across the Third Avenue bridge over the park. Out from this archway, decorated to represent the subway that is being opened, marched 10,000 children, twenty abreast.

At this juncture came the most impressive spectacle of the entire celebration, for the launching of the Arizona dreadnought to be laid down at the New York Navy Yard, would have electric propulsion. Other speakers were Senator Ashurst, of Arizona; Hilary A. Herbert and Miss Ross.
