

A Pictorial Review of the Day's Varied Happenings Vividly Portrayed by the Camera

MEMBERS OF THE INDEPENDENCE SQUARE AUXILIARY OF THE RED CROSS receiving awards for their war work. The certificates of service were awarded by Major General L. W. T. Waller at 608 Chestnut street. Directly behind General Waller is Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, chairman of the auxiliary. To the left of the Red Cross worker receiving the award is Mrs. J. Wellington Shannon, representative of the American Red Cross.

LAUNCHING AN OBSERVATION BALLOON from the deck of a battleship at sea.

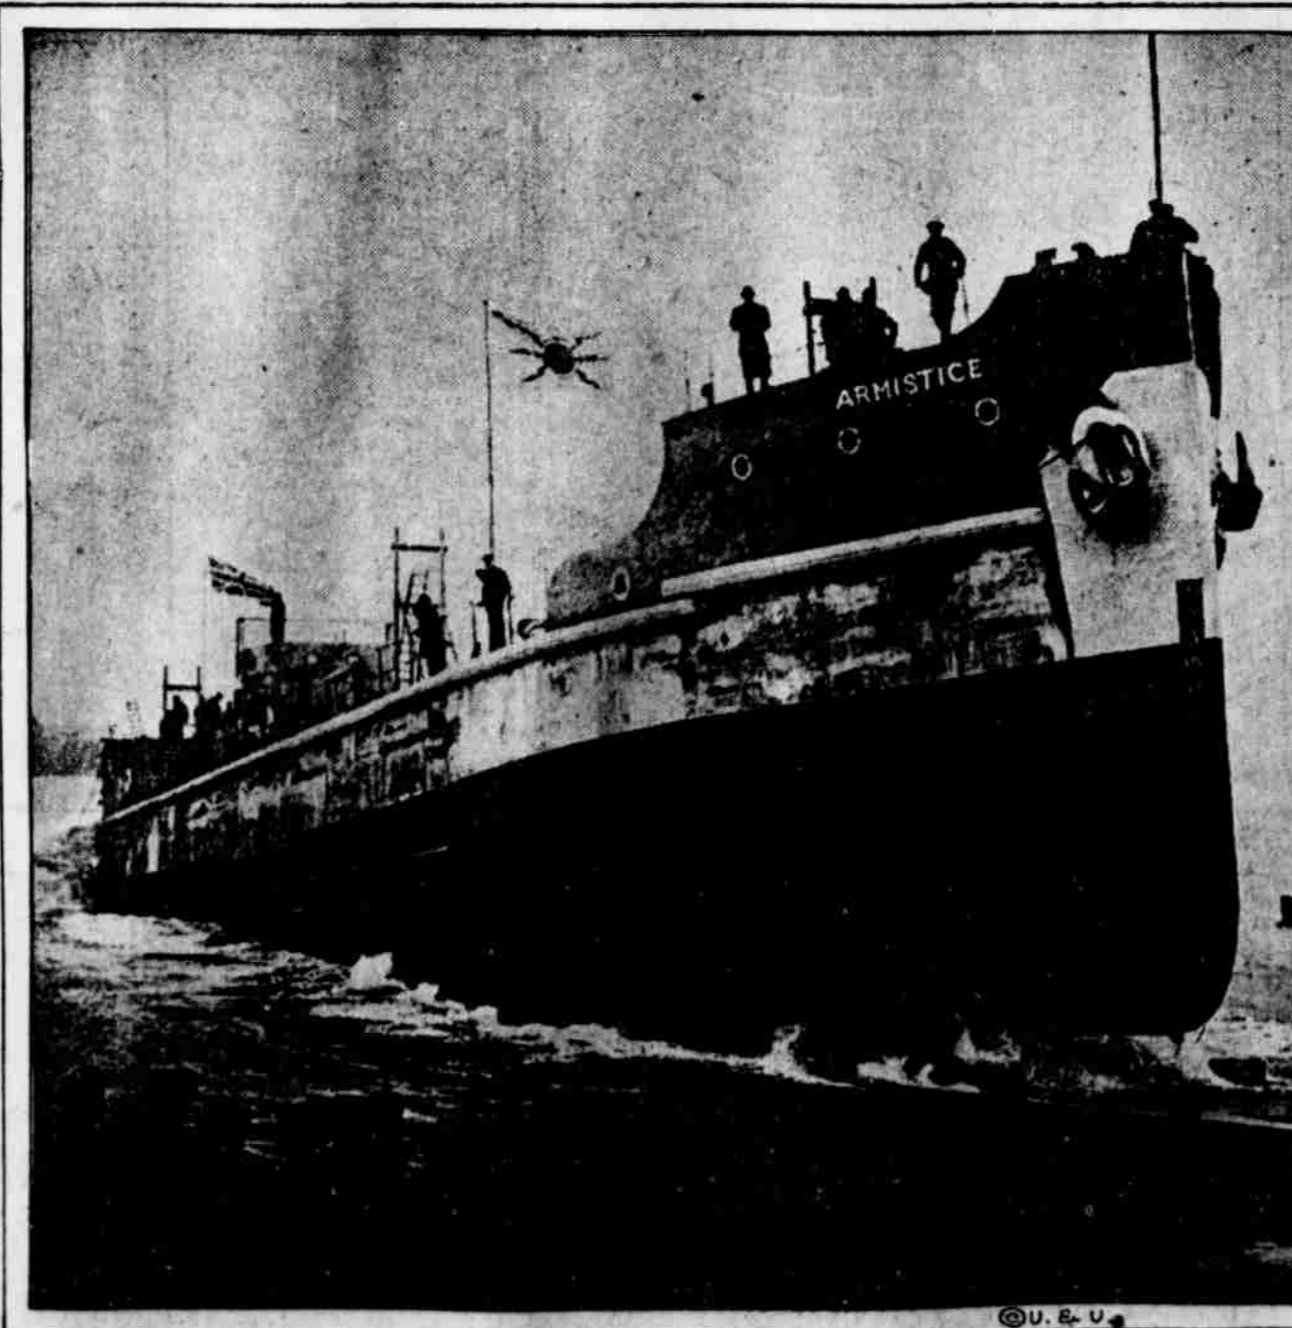

GERMAN SOLDIERS loyal to the Ebert Government taking positions over an entrance to the Royal Palace in Berlin, ready to repel any attacks by followers of Doctor Liebknecht. A machine gun is mounted over the doorway.

CLARENDON, VA., BOASTS of being the birthplace of the first women's fire department. A little cottage in the town burned down because the men were too busy elsewhere to take out the apparatus. So the women of the town decided to study the workings of the fire-fighting apparatus, and never again to permit a house to burn down while they were around.

THE CHILDREN OF THE KING AND QUEEN OF SPAIN about to receive their First Communion in the Royal Palace in Madrid. From left to right are the Infante Jaime and the Infantas Beatrice and Maria Christina of Spain.

THIS IS THE LATEST addition to the fleet of British sea-going concrete vessels. The ship's name, Armistice, is new and quite up to date.

CAPTAIN LANG, British Air Service, who made a record altitude flight of 30,500 feet. He was arrested immediately thereafter for disclosing the particulars of his flight without official permission.