

TIMES PICTURE PAGE OF LIVE VIEWS AND NEWS

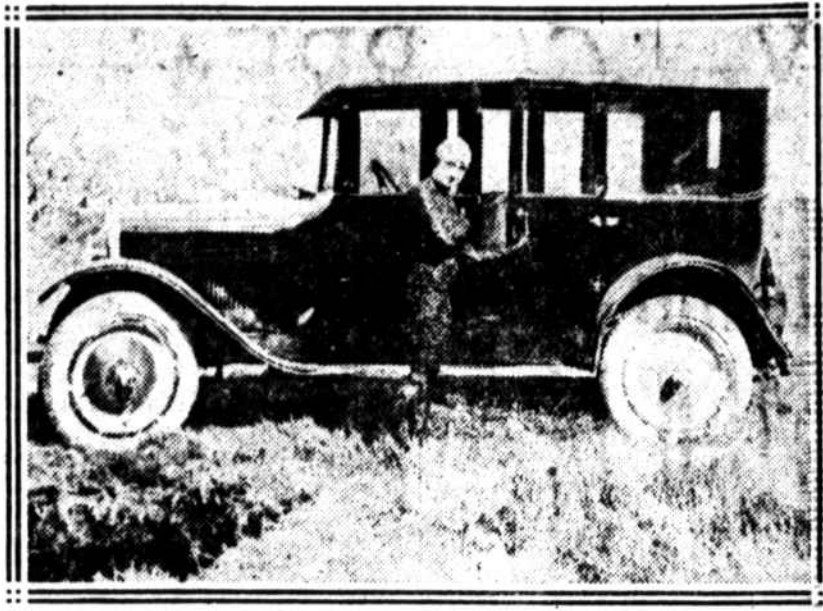

FROM TIN CANS TO TOYS. Miss Dora Forster, of New York city, devotes her spare moments to converting discarded tin cans into amazingly delightful toys for youngsters. The toy manufacturer is a jewelry worker by profession.

—International

A "GOOFY SECOND LOOIE" was responsible for the bombardment of the home of Harold McCormick and other wealthy residents of Lake Forest, according to the military authorities at Fort Sheridan.

—International

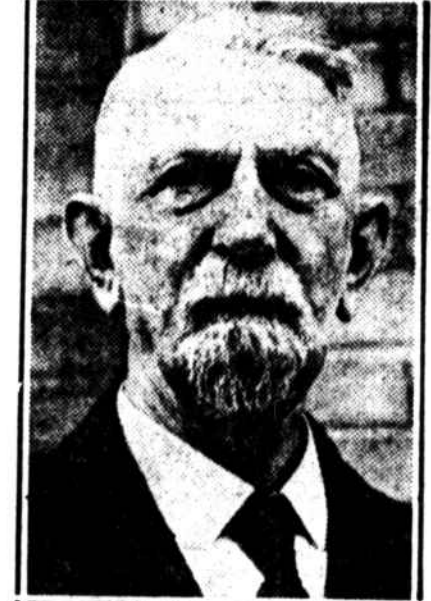

MUD—NICE, SQUISHY, THICK BLACK MUD is the beauty secret of California girls. They take it in the form of an all-over mud bath, motoring out to the various mud baths of their native State before breakfast. The baths are guaranteed to cure anything from fallen arches to falling hair.

Underwood & Underwood

THE TAIL END OF THE TALE. Mrs. Olivia McBurnie, of Chicago, purchased what she thought was a tailless pedigreed Boston bull pup and found it had a tail. So she is suing the original owner of the dog for her money back on the grounds that no pedigreed Boston bull should have a tail.

—International

"WAY BACK in 1862 a young private in the 110th New York Volunteers told his comrades he would be the last of the regiment to die. And with the recent death of his last "buddy" Edward L. Chapin keeps his promise.

—International

SWEET AND PRETTY is Miss Ruth Leonard, of 153 M street, one of the prettiest girls of the National Capital.

—P. and A.

IN THESE PIPING TIMES OF PEACE we like to read of deeds of valor on the battlefield. A recent recognition of a war hero was the decoration the other day of Frank J. Irwin, commander of the Disabled American Veterans Association of New York, with the D. S. C.

—International

WEDDING BELLS will shortly ring for Miss Natalie McCoy, daughter of Mrs. Julia McCoy, whose engagement to George Douglas Lytle has recently been announced.

INTERNATIONAL venture of Miss Margaret Maury-Hopkins-Galt, a Washington beauty, is Major Leon Fraser formerly of the United States Veterans Bureau. They are now in Paris.

—Underwood & Underwood

THE UNITED STATES NEXT. After years of exploration in Tibet and the Trans-Himalaya, Dr. Sven Hedin, Swedish explorer, is coming to discover America via the lecture platform.

—International

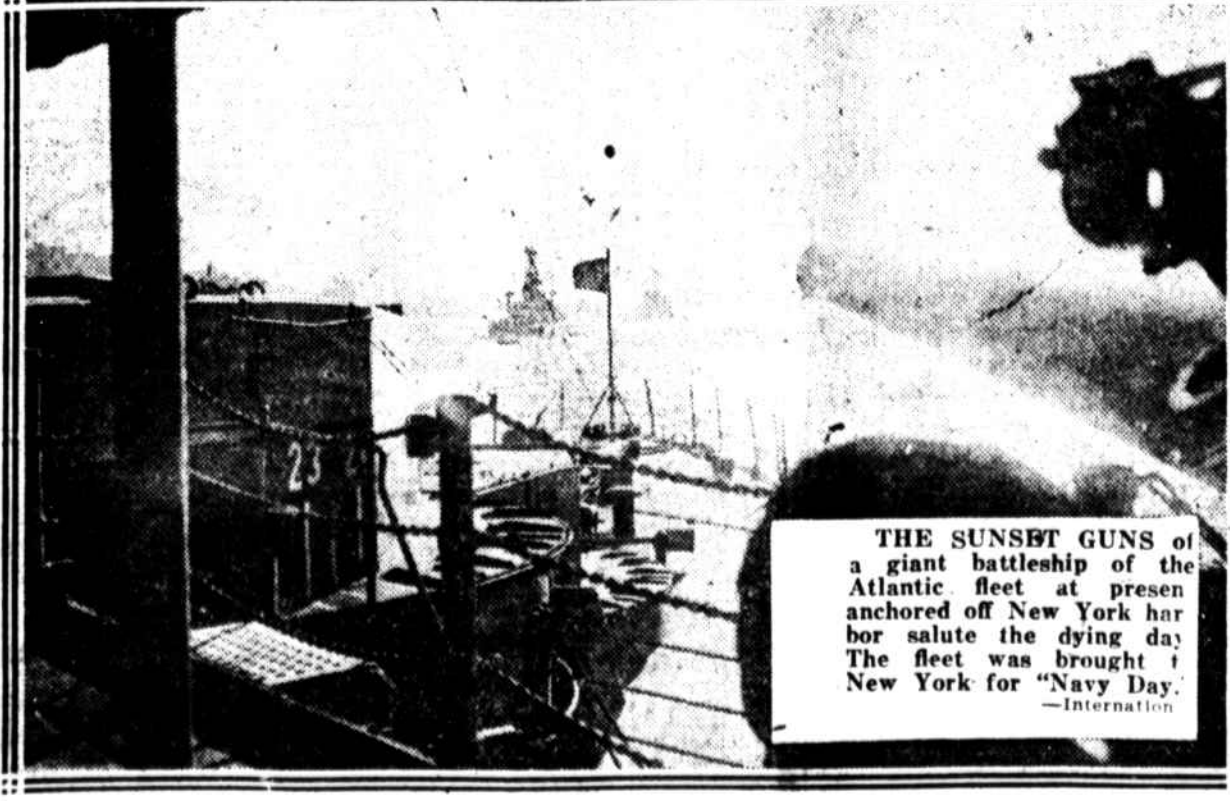

STRIKE BREAKER ON THE "HENRY FORD." The crew of the American entry in the international fishermen's race last week threatened to strike at the last minute before the race began, only yielding when a crew of girl volunteers, headed by Miss Polly Lantz, threatened to break the strike.

—International

PEAR'S SOAP WOULD HAVE SAVED HIM. This tiny shrunken figure of a man was once normal size, probably a good bit over six feet in height. The Jivaro Indians of Ecuador mummified their dead by a process that greatly reduced the bodies in size, through perfectly retaining the natural proportions and expression.

—P. and A.

THE SUNSET GUNS of a giant battleship of the Atlantic fleet at present anchored off New York harbor salute the dying day. The fleet was brought to New York for "Navy Day."

—International

O, LA, LA! Even blase Paris was startled over the dancing of Mlle. Iris Rowe and her partner, M. Quinault, now the reigning dancing favorites of the French capital.

—International

See the News of the World

AT ALL LEADING THEATERS SHOWING

INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Released by Universal Film Exchanges