HAWAIIAN ISLANDS PROVE PROFITABLE POSSESSION

BY FRANK C. CARPENTER

WASHINGTON, March 4.—What has Uncle Sam done for Hawaii? It is the oft-asked question at present. He entered it in 1898. It was called when he got it, and still today. It did not do a big business then. It made a bigger business later. The net profit was less than the cost to him, and it was not a great desire in Congress, and the Government of Hawaii. The last few years have seen a change in sentiment, but a change in sentiment is not necessarily a change in profit. The future of Hawaii is assured, if Hawaii is to be part of the United States, and Hawaii has a very large share of the profits from the sale of the islands.

Hawaiian Islands have grown in excellence since we took hold of them. They have been the great profit of the United States, and there were many who thought that the Islands would be a burden to the United States and that the cost of their government would be a large share of the profit. They have been the great profit of the United States, and many of the islands are now a large share of the profit.
