PICTURES OF THE MAINE AND THE INJURIES THAT DESTROYED HER

Continued from First Page

Here is the scene in Vienna where the first salvo of the new war was fired. The Austrian government was full of hope that the war would be concluded before the end of the year. But the war dragged on for months and months, and the peace process was not completed until the spring of 1918.

The death of the Empress was a great shock to the people of Austria, and the country was plunged into a deep state of mourning. The mourning period lasted for three years, during which time the emperor and empress were buried in a great ceremony in the Hofburg Palace.

GERMAN CEREMONIES IN VIENNA.

The emperor and empress were buried in the Hofburg Palace, and the ceremony was attended by the heads of state of all the nations of Europe. The emperor and empress were carried in state carriages from the Hofburg Palace to the church, where they were laid in state in the largest church in Europe, St. Stephen's Cathedral.

The funeral was a great event, and the people of Vienna were in great mourning. The emperor and empress were carried in state carriages from the church to the Hofburg Palace, where they were reburied in a magnificent tomb.

The funeral was a great event, and the people of Vienna were in great mourning. The emperor and empress were carried in state carriages from the church to the Hofburg Palace, where they were reburied in a magnificent tomb.

The ceremony was attended by the heads of state of all the nations of Europe, and the people of Vienna expressed their deep regret at the death of the emperor and empress. The ceremony was a great event, and the people of Vienna were in great mourning. The emperor and empress were carried in state carriages from the church to the Hofburg Palace, where they were reburied in a magnificent tomb.

The ceremony was attended by the heads of state of all the nations of Europe, and the people of Vienna expressed their deep regret at the death of the emperor and empress. The ceremony was a great event, and the people of Vienna were in great mourning. The emperor and empress were carried in state carriages from the church to the Hofburg Palace, where they were reburied in a magnificent tomb.

GERMAN CEREMONIES IN VIENNA.

The ceremony was attended by the heads of state of all the nations of Europe, and the people of Vienna expressed their deep regret at the death of the emperor and empress. The ceremony was a great event, and the people of Vienna were in great mourning. The emperor and empress were carried in state carriages from the church to the Hofburg Palace, where they were reburied in a magnificent tomb.

The ceremony was attended by the heads of state of all the nations of Europe, and the people of Vienna expressed their deep regret at the death of the emperor and empress. The ceremony was a great event, and the people of Vienna were in great mourning. The emperor and empress were carried in state carriages from the church to the Hofburg Palace, where they were reburied in a magnificent tomb.

The ceremony was attended by the heads of state of all the nations of Europe, and the people of Vienna expressed their deep regret at the death of the emperor and empress. The ceremony was a great event, and the people of Vienna were in great mourning. The emperor and empress were carried in state carriages from the church to the Hofburg Palace, where they were reburied in a magnificent tomb.

The ceremony was attended by the heads of state of all the nations of Europe, and the people of Vienna expressed their deep regret at the death of the emperor and empress. The ceremony was a great event, and the people of Vienna were in great mourning. The emperor and empress were carried in state carriages from the church to the Hofburg Palace, where they were reburied in a magnificent tomb.