Chicago Leads World in Making of Art Glass

Stained Glass Windows Made There for Churches in Every Land

Served by Wortman

Chicago—Chicago has chiseled its name on a quarter of a continent which it did not own, Italy, France, and Austria have been mentioned as in art which the city has contributed to the leading places in the world, but Chicago now leads the world in the making of stained glass and other stained windows. The city may be considered as a walking and working city, yet the workmen in the making and leading glass, and the designers of stained glass, are particularly in this field of the art, in which the Chicago glass was done. More than a score of firms now engage in the manufacture of stained glass, and their product is now made available to the world. There are hundreds of permanent stained glass firms in the city, which are engaged in the making of stained glass, and the glass windows that are made in the city may be seen in churches all over the world. In one of the city's prominent churches, the windows were made of clear glass, and there are windows made of colored glass. The windows are made in Chicago by the city's leading glass manufacturers, and they are made in the city. The city's leading glass manufacturers have been at work for many years in the making of stained glass windows, and they have been at work for many years in the making of the windows for churches all over the world. The windows are made of clear glass, and they are made in the city. The city's leading glass manufacturers have been at work for many years in the making of stained glass windows, and they are made in the city. The city's leading glass manufacturers have been at work for many years in the making of stained glass windows, and they are made in the city. The city's leading glass manufacturers have been at work for many years in the making of stained glass windows, and they are made in the city. The city's leading glass manufacturers have been at work for many years in the making of stained glass windows, and they are made in the city. The city's leading glass manufacturers have been at work for many years in the making of stained glass windows, and they are made in the city. The city's leading glass manufacturers have been at work for many years in the making of stained glass windows, and they are made in the city.