Some Death Bed Rimesters.
There have been numerous instances of poetical and grammatical deaths. Emperor Adrian made a poetical address to his own soul as death was casting the seal of final silence over his lips, and Margaret of Austria, while almost within the grasp of death, in a terrific storm at sea, calmly sat down and composed her epitaph in verse. The ship weathered the gale, however, and the epitaph was not needed.—The Sunday Magazine.

A Monster Carpet.
A notable Axminster carpet has just been completed at the Royal carpet factory, Wilton, England, for a well known London club. It is entirely hand made, and although woven in one piece measures over 62 feet in length and 35 feet in breadth. An immense loom over 40 feet long had to be especially erected to make it, and 13 workers were continuously engaged for more than four months in its manufacture.

Longevity.
To achieve longevity one should be an Italian painter. Spinello was nearly 100; Carlo Cignana was 91; Michael Angelo, 90; Leonardo da Vinci, 75; Calabresi, 86; Claude Lorraine, 82; Carlo Maratti, 88; Tintoretto, 82; Sebastian Ricci, 78; Francesco Albano, 88; Guido, 68; Guercino, 76; John Baptist Crespi, 76; Giuseppe Crespi, 82; Carlo Dolce, 70; Andrew Sacchi, 74; Zuccharelli, 86; Vernet, 77; Schidoni, 76.

Endless Trail.
Gomer Davies, of Concordia, tells a story about a wooden-legged man, although he denies being the one to which it refers. "This man," says Davies, "was going home after being at a late supper, along about 13 o'clock in the morning, when his leg went through an auger hole in the plank sidewalk and he kept circling about that hole all night, thinking he was going home."—Kansas City Star.

Honor Among Engineers.
It must be confessed that, with some engineers, things have occasionally not been thought unworthy or improper which, although not in themselves dishonest, would be impossible among lawyers or doctors, which ought to be impossible among gentlemen, and which would be impossible among engineers if their organization were as complete and their etiquette as strict as in the older professions.—Engineering.

Productive Coconut Trees.
A large coconut tree yields as many as 100 nuts a year. Natives use the nuts for dishes as well as for food.

Some Consolation.
Distinguished Surgeon (to widow whose husband has just died from an operation he had performed)—At least, my dear madam, you have the satisfaction of knowing that your husband didn't die under the knife of a medical bungler.

Eagle's Rapid Flight.
An eagle has been observed to rise from the ground and completely disappear into the sky within three minutes. Eagles sometimes soar to heights of 15,000 feet or more.

View Inside a Submarine.
Overhead is the commanding officer's platform, and the steering-wheel. To the right is the inside tiller-wheel and below it the driving-wheel to deflect the rudders. In the middle background is the flywheel, and behind it are the submarine's engines. On the left is the indicator which shows the depth beneath the surface and the vessel's deflection from the horizontal. The question of escape from sunken submarines is seriously engaging the attention of engineers, and also that of communication with the surface. The presence of a disabled boat can be revealed by the detachable buoy connected with the vessel by a reel of wire. It also establishes telephone connection. This apparatus is now being fitted to the U. S. submarine plunger.

FIRST IN ART OF OLD.

CHICAGO LEADS WORLD IN MAKING OF ART GLASS.
Stained Glass Windows Made There Decorate Churches in Every Land on Earth—Baffling Problem Solved by Workmen.

Chicago.—Chicago has robbed Europe of a distinction of which it was proud. Italy, France, and Austria have been outdone in an art in which they have for centuries been supreme. Chicago now leads the world in the designing and making of art glass and stained windows. The city may be scorned as inartistic and commercial, but the workers in coloring and leaded glass have advanced far beyond their fellow craftsmen in other countries, and particularly in this true of the men who design stained glass windows. More than a score of firms here are engaged in the manufacture of art glass, and their product is now made widely known that that of any other city or country.

There are hundreds of permanent proofs of Chicago's artistic supremacy in the making of stained-glass windows. There are manufacturers here who can point to their office walls hung with photographs of buildings in far off countries, the windows for each one of which were designed and made in this city. It is indeed an uncivilized spot, one not blessed with churches, where Chicago windows are not prominent. South Africa has Chicago windows in a Capetown church; Melbourne, Australia has several, there are two in the City of Mexico, and a number are scattered through Japan. In Russia Vladivostok a great theater has Chicago windows of brilliant colors and intricate design, and quite recently came an order from Germany for a large number of leaded panels to be used in the palace of the emperor. Italy and Rome itself have examples of this city's art, and many of the old world cathedrals, as repairs become necessary, order copies of the original windows from Chicago. An order just given to a Chicago company adds one more proof to the city's supremacy in glass work. It calls for three immense triple win-

INDIANS ARE DYING OF GRIEF.
Creeks Cannot Adapt Themselves to New Government.
Kansas City, Mo.—Pleasant Porter, chief of the Creeks, states that many of his people died during the last year, and that a great many of these deaths are due to discouragement on account of a change of government, change of conditions and environment to which the Creeks cannot become adapted. This remarkable statement is contained in the annual message of the Creek chief to the council, which is in session here. The words of the chief are:

"I regret to state that a large number of our people have died during the last year. From my observation, the cause of many deaths has been discouragement. They had lived their entire lives under a different system of government, and had had the use of their lands in common. The change has had a decided effect upon the older people, and the change of methods under which they have been accustomed to live seemed to be a source of discouragement and was a potent factor in causing their deaths. The younger class of our people seem to be more in harmony with present conditions, and the change has had a great effect in deciding their higher aspirations, thus bettering their condition, especially those of our people who have been to school. I notice that the children of our younger women who have been to school are doing better in meeting the new conditions than others of our people."

Press Agent for Kansas.
Topeka, Kan.—Kansas, which has been the butt of newspaper jokes since the days of the grasshopper plague, is to be vindicated at last. Gov. Hoch will soon appoint an official press agent, whose duty it will be to announce to the world the size of Kansas crops, the number of Kansas hens and the output of Kansas mines.

Mice Burn $1,265.
Williamsport, Pa.—At Nordmont, in the mill of the Nordmont Chemical company, Monroe Phillips laid his coat on a shelf. It is presumed that then a mouse ignited matches in the pocket and the coat burned up, together with $85 in cash and $1,200 worth of negotiable notes.

Little Visits with Uncle By.
Help.
"And this reminds me," says Uncle By, "of an experience I had in 1888. I was fireman on a limited train in Kansas, and one foggy night we had a head-end collision with a freight train carrying 4,978 dozen eggs to Wichita. That was the greatest egg shampoo of my life! Why, the engine coughed scrambled eggs for a week and the fireman was so slippery we had to sand his clothes to get hold of him."
"In the melee my watch stopped and I took it to the man with the monkey-wrench at the sign of three balls."
"I guess there's some dirt in it," I said, apologetically, as I handed him the watch.
"Oh, never mind," he replied, blandly, "I'll find it in time!"
"Is there a woman in the case?" he asked, as he prepared to open the watch. "Are you married?"
"No," I replied, thankfully, "this wreck is the worst thing that ever happened me!"
"Well, I called for my watch next day and the man was mad."
"Watch-er givin' me?" he demanded.
"Why?" I asked.
"Because," said he, "this is no watch; this is an egg-beater!"
"Don't that beat me!" I moaned.
"Yes," he added, feelingly, "ten dollars, please!"
"Ten dollars?" I gasped.
"Yes, the watch had a bed-bug in it!"
"A bed-bug?"
"Yes, sir; between the ticks!"
"I didn't have the $10 and I told him so."
"All right," he declared, "I'll hold the watch in escrow!"
"In escrow," I shouted. "Ah, ha! Now I know what was the matter with that watch all the time. Some of those eggs were bound to have been roosters!"
"You know a baby with a crow in it is all right, but a watch! Never!"

CHRISTMAS MORNING.
I wish that I could find the joy in writing prose and sonnets. That Willie finds in his new sled With race horse "pitchers" on it.

Rag Time Rhapsodies.
If some men owned the earth they would begrudge the tax collector his stipend.

It is claimed by a Nebraska paper that the real reason the whale coughed up Jonah was because Jonah had a plug of tobacco in his hip pocket. Sunday school teachers please take notice.

Willie's Sunday school teacher asked him how many commandments there were. He replied there were but nine as Henry Jones had broken one just before school was called.

Poor father counts the cash they spent For Christmas presents dear, And knows that for a month he must Eat hand-outs with his beer; And as he stands beside the bar And sadly grabs a bite, He swears with vicious vow to kill One Santa Claus on sight!

An old maid of Kalamazoo refused to go skating with the only beau she has had in 20 years because the skating rink was fenced with undressed lumber.

The man who marries a woman who can cook will never have to spend money at the delicatessen when the cook goes on a strike.

The hired girl may break a valuable piece of wife's china and still retain her place, but it is "twenty-three" for her when she lets fall the husband's meerschaum pipe.

Manifestations of friendship do not always mean an open sesame to a friend's pocketbook. Sometimes our best friends are those who refuse to loan us money.

What is Pe-ru-na?
Is it a Catarrh Remedy, or a Tonic or is it Both?

Some people call Peruna a great tonic. Others refer to Peruna as a great catarrh remedy. Which of these people are right? Is it more proper to call Peruna a catarrh remedy than to call it a tonic?
Our reply is, that Peruna is both a tonic and a catarrh remedy. Indeed, there is no effectual catarrh remedy that is not also a tonic.
In order to thoroughly relieve any case of catarrh, a remedy must not only have specific action on the mucous membranes affected by the catarrh, but it must have general tonic action on the nervous system.
Catarrh, even in persons who are otherwise strong, is a weakened condition of the mucous membrane. There must be something to strengthen the circulation, to get tone to the arteries, and to raise the vital forces.
Perhaps no vegetable remedy in the world has attracted so much attention from medical writers as HYDRASTIS CANADENSIS. The wonderful efficacy of this herb has been recognized many years, and is growing in its hold upon the medical profession. When joined with CUBEBS and COPAIBA a trio of medical agents is formed, Peruna which constitutes a specific remedy for catarrh that in the present state of medical progress cannot be improved upon. This action, reinforced by such renowned agents as COLLINSONIA CANADENSIS, CORYDALIS FORMOSA and CEDRON STRONG ought to make this compound an ideal remedy for catarrh in all its stages and locations in the body.
From a theoretical standpoint, therefore, Peruna is beyond criticism. The many Peruna, confirms this opinion. Numberless testimonials from every quarter of the globe furnish ample evidence that this judgment is not over enthusiastic. When practical experience confirms a well-grounded theory the result is a truth that cannot be shaken.

Whine from Henry James.
Henry James, pursuing his theme, "The Speech of American Women," speaks of a group of Boston young women, "all articulating as from sore mouths, all mumbling and whining and vocally limping and shuffling as it were together." He compares, also to its great disadvantage, a school where parents pay so much not to have their boys taught to speak as gentlemen, with one "beyond the sea, in which the proviso that the schoolmaster shall speak as a gentleman is so absolutely vital."

Surely Had Helped.
While the child labor bill was under discussion in the senate Mr. Piles said he did not approve of some provisions in the measure, adding: "Under the bill as it now stands I would not be permitted to employ my own son in my law office if he were under 14 years of age." "Would you," Senator Beveridge interrupted quickly, "put a son under 14 years of age at work in your office if you desired to train him to be a lawyer?" "I went into my father's office," said Senator Piles with dignity, "at the age of 13."

French President's Double.
M. Fallieres was until recently believed to be the only president of the French republic who had no doubt but his counterpart had been found. The man who most resembles him physically is a respectable merchant of the Rue Saint Honore, who plays his part with decorum and dignity. "Did it help?" queried the Indiana senator. "Yes, I am here." Then the sedate senate chuckled.

Safe, Sure and Speedy.
No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successfully as Alcock's Plasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to their work of relieving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of the functions of muscles, nerves and skin.
Alcock's Plasters are the original and genuine porous plasters and like most meritorious articles have been extensively imitated, therefore always make sure and get the genuine.

Comment That Stung.
The marquis of Lansdowne, leader of unionist peers in the British parliament, speaks rarely but always with effect. He revels in grave sarcasm. On one occasion Lord Crewe, the liberal leader, made a speech on a subject which he desired to leave a matter for open voting among his followers. Lord Lansdowne congratulated his friend on his eloquent speech. "I have followed it," he said, "with earnest attention not only on account of the importance of the subject but also on account of the noble lord's judicial attitude. I admired his earnestness and eloquence, but what impressed me most was his impartiality." A pause. "Yes, until the last minute I did not know on which side of the fence his lordship was coming down."

OLD CAPT. CACK'S QUESTION.
Somewhat Pointed, But It Denoted Quick Intelligence.

Pierce Jay, the commissioner of banks of Massachusetts, at the American Bankers' association's convention in St. Louis, advocated a better accounting system.
"But above all," said Mr. Jay, in a discussion of his idea, "we want intelligence, if embezzlement is to be thoroughly put down. Systems are good, but intelligence is better, and in cashiers and tellers and book-keepers and note clerks we want the same keen, quick intelligence that characterized old Capt. Hiram Cack, of Gloucester."
"Cack lay very ill. One day he got down-hearted, feeling that his case was hopeless."
"I fear, doctor," he said, "there isn't much hope for me."
"Oh, yes, there is," the doctor answered. "Three years ago I was in your condition precisely, and look at me now."
"Cack, intelligent and alert, said quickly: "What doctor did you have?"

NEVER TIRES
Of the Food That Restored Her Health.

"My food was killing me and I didn't know the cause," writes a Colo. woman. "For two years I was thin and sickly, suffering from indigestion and inflammatory rheumatism."
"I had tried different kinds of diet plain living, and many of the remedies recommended, but got no better."
"Finally, about five weeks ago, another suggested that I try Grape-Nuts, and I began at once, eating with a little cream or milk. A change for the better began at once."
"To-day I am well and am gaining weight and strength all the time. I gained 10 lbs. in the last five weeks and do not suffer any more from indigestion and the rheumatism is gone."
"I know it is Grape-Nuts also that I owe my restored health. I eat the food twice a day and never get it." Name given by Postum Co. Battle Creek, Mich.

The flavor of Grape-Nuts is peculiar to itself. It is neutral, not too sweet and has an agreeable, healthful quality that never grows tiresome.
One of the sources of rheumatism is from overloading the system with acid material, the result of imperfect digestion and assimilation.
As soon as improper food is abandoned Grape-Nuts is taken regularly, digestion is made strong, the organs do their work of building up new red blood cells and of carrying away the excess of disease-making material from the system.
The result is a certain and steady return to normal health and mental activity. "There's a reason." Buy the little book "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.
