

NEW ERA OF PEACE IS BEGINNING IN MEXICO

Huerta's Generals Fleeing, His Soldiers Are Without Their Pay

General Villa Sets Up Rebel Capital at City of Chihuahua

Dictator's Power Crumbling Through Grave Internal Dissension

Washington Sees Dawn of Peace and Solution of Problem

Jurazco, Mex., Dec. 3.—A new era began in northern Mexico Wednesday. It marked the peaceful occupation by the rebels of the territory abandoned by Huerta's federal troops.

With the combined force of seven thousand rebels, General Villa is to establish the temporary military headquarters of the constitutionalists at the evacuated city of Chihuahua. Zacatas will be the nearest federal stronghold on the south, toward which Villa is marching.

The flight of General Mercado, the federal governor and the commander in chief with all his officers and troops after sending a peace commission to Villa, whose answer he didn't wait to receive, made possible the rebel occupation of Chihuahua without fight. No word has been received here from the fleeing party.

Washington—Government officials are more than confident that the infinite patience of the United States has shown in the treatment of the Mexican problem will soon be rewarded by a solution brought about by the operation of the great internal forces now engaged in a final struggle in Mexico.

Such a conclusion has been the one principal object of the American administration. Among facts forming a basis for this relief was the report from the state department agents in Mexico that the federal troops were no longer receiving their pay, without which experience has shown their loyalty cannot be depended upon.

PARSONS SEEK TO MAKE PEACE IN STRIKE WAR

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 3.—The ministers took a hand in the teamsters' strike, when they submitted a proposition at a union meeting to obtain a statement of facts from the union and also from the employers.

The statement the ministers said they would publish, so the citizens could know the cause of the trouble, hoping thus to bring the team owners and teamsters together.

The teamsters appointed a committee to confer with the ministers. The question calling for a general strike was put over until a meeting of the Central labor unions of the strike committee tonight.

Members of the committee are hopeful of settling the teamsters' trouble without a general strike. Not many arrests were made Wednesday. Little trouble was reported.

MINE STILL HOLDS SECRET. Behind its double bulkheads, the Utah Apex mine still held the secret last night of the fate of Ralph Lopez, Mexican slayer of six men.

Smudges ignited Monday continued to pour poisonous gases into the mine until late last night when they were allowed to die down. Many hold that Lopez has barricaded himself safely from the approach of the gases and escaped through an unwatched exit before the fumes became overpowering.

VOLUNTEERS ON REGULAR ARMY BASIS

Washington, Dec. 3.—After a discussion into which Republican Leader Mann injected the Mexican situation, the house passed the pay army volunteer bill that in varying forms has been at the capital for many years.

The bill going to the senate will put the volunteer forces on an equal footing with the regular army. It provides that whenever in the president's judgment war is imminent, or exists, he may organize volunteer regiments for war purposes.

The men instead of enlisting for a short period, must enlist "for the war." The president will appoint all the officers.

The volunteer force will supplement the national militia with which the bill does not interfere.

Boston, Dec. 3.—A fire which cost the lives of 28 homeless men in the Arcadia hotel, a low-priced lodging house, early Wednesday became the subject of eight separate investigations by nightfall.

Some aimed at determining where the responsibility for the loss of life should be placed; others were directed toward devising measures to protect hundreds of other men forced by circumstances to seek shelter in similar places. The most important investigation was instituted by the grand jury.

The cause of the fire was not determined. The president of the firm controlling the Arcadia said "the fire was undoubtedly set."

Washington, Dec. 3.—Hopes that the cost of living would be reduced by the free importation of wheat flour and other wheat products from Argentine Republic went glimmering when Assistant Secretary Hamilton sent collectors of the customs notice that the retaliatory duty on wheat and its products would be enforced against Argentine and most of the other nations.

Under the new tariff law wheat and its products will be admitted free from the countries which admit such products free from the United States. Argentine imposes a duty on Semolina, a product of wheat.

The Real Story of a Real Newsboy Who Never Had a Chance

This is not a news story. A news story must be something that has either happened in the immediate past or must detail an extraordinary happening. The events chronicled here happened several months ago and the pathetic feature is that instead of being extraordinary similar cases occur with heart rending frequency.

Neither is this fiction nor is it intended as the usual newspaper sob story. It is just the common, old story of the very day life of newsboys in a large city.

His story has nothing in it to lift it into prominence above the life stories of thousands of other children of the poor in the large cities. "Red" simply happened to be a friend of the writer.

Red was born in the slum section of Chicago. His home was in a crowded narrow tenement, his playground the streets and his education picked up amid the polyglot babble of the dirty faced urchins of South State street.

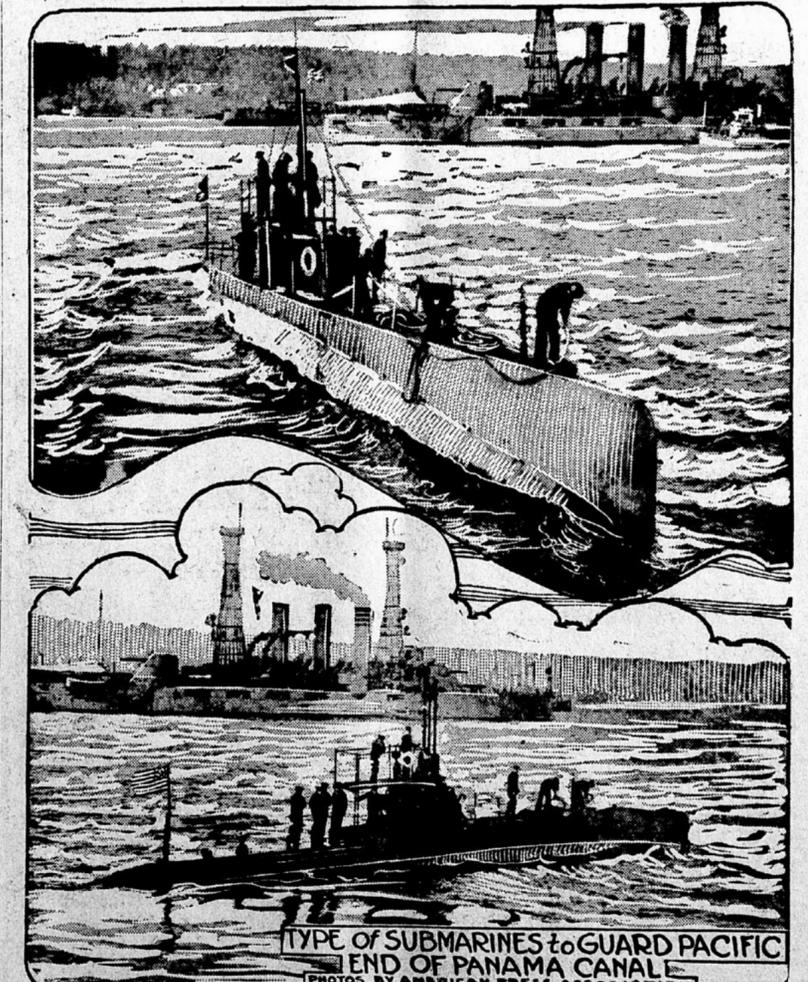

When Red was about 8 years old his father moved to Minneapolis. Red went to school days and hustled papers night and mornings. Four years later his father died and Red was left to care for a frail mother and two younger sisters.

It was tough sledding for the first few years. The mother took in sewing and Red worked harder and harder at his paper selling and went to school fewer and fewer hours a day.

It was during these hard years that the boy showed the manhood that was in him. He rose to a class far above the ordinary gamins of the street.

THOUSANDS ARE MADE HOMELESS BY TEXAS FLOOD

Dallas, Texas, Dec. 3.—With three rivers, the Trinity, Brazos and Colorado and innumerable small streams out of their banks as a result of torrential rains, which began Monday, and are still continuing, the food situation in central Texas assumed serious proportions.

Within a territory 200 miles in length and 100 in width, almost all the lowlands are under water; approximately 15,000 persons are driven from their homes and scores have been rescued from tree tops and floating wreckage. Several railroads have been forced to suspend operations and much damage is done to property.

Rumors of the loss of life are unverified, except the drowning of five at Belton.

Waco, in the center of the flooded area, is reported in the most serious situation. Much of the city is under water. Ten thousand are homeless and the property damages will exceed $75,000.

Two conditions were imposed upon Zelaya. He must not mix in Central American politics again and must leave the United States for Spain within a reasonable time.

ACTRESS FILES SUIT TO BREAK INCOME TAX LAW

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Charges that the income tax feature of the new tariff law constitutes class legislation and is unconstitutional, were made in a test suit filed against the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank in behalf of Elsie De Wolfe, New York.

The United States government will probably be asked to aid in the defense of the bill according to Levy Mayer, counsel for the bank, who declared he would seek a conference with Attorney General McReynolds to discuss carrying the petition to the United States supreme court for a ruling.

Miss De Wolfe is a well known actress.

Negro Murderer Is Jerked To Eternity

Aberdeen, S. D., Dec. 3.—Joseph Rickman, negro, paid the death penalty this morning for the murder of Mrs. Allen Fox and her little daughter, in their claim shack, near Birby, Perkins county, last August.

At 5 o'clock he walked onto the scaffold, the black hood was slipped over his head, he stepped onto the death trap and was instantly jerked to eternity. Death was instantaneous.

At no time did the negro show the least signs of weakness. He went to sleep last night at 11 o'clock, and slept soundly until he was awakened by the guards shortly after 4 o'clock, and from the time he was awakened he never said a word to any of his attendants.

Sheriff John Anderson had everything in readiness and not a hitch marked the proceedings. About 50 persons were present, including the sheriff's assistants, witnesses and several sheriffs and police officers from adjoining counties.
