

WILSON USES THE CLUB OF PATRONAGE IN JONES FIGHT

White House Attempts to Force Insurgent Democratic Senators into Line by Withholding Appointments.

Big Party Split Threatened as Opponents Decline to Enter Caucus and Will Appeal to Country.

By JOHN SNURE. The situation in the Senate with respect to the confirmation of the nomination of Thomas D. Jones, of Chicago, or member of the Federal reserve board has become much like the situation which developed at the time of the fight over railroad legislation in 1906, when President Taft undertook to drive insurgent Republicans into line with the use of patronage.

Effect of Policy. Whether the effect of the policy of the President will be to enable him to win his point and drive enough timid Democratic Senators into line to get Jones confirmed, or whether it will be to create in the Senate a body of vigorous and independent Democratic opponents remains to be seen.

Insurgents Ready to Fight. Far from being a mere counterforce to the outgoing club to line up on the Federal Reserve Board, the Jones controversy, along with that of Paul M. Warburg, threatens to become a political struggle of the first magnitude. While the President is relying on the outgoing club to line up on the Senate Democrats, the Democrats are insurgent, are declaring their willingness to carry the issue to the Supreme Court.

Reed Prevents Conference. Senator Reed's refusal to go into conference is likely to result in preventing one, at least, for the present. Senator Martine is opposed to entering a conference and so is Senator Hitchcock. It is expected this will be the attitude of a number of others.

IN CONGRESS TODAY. SENATE. Met at 11. Speeches made in acceptance of Kansas of former Governor Glick of Kansas for Statuary Hall.

HOUSE. Met at noon. Letter from Secretary McAdoo read deploring that he had used revenue cutters for "joy rides."

Asserting Legal Death of Husband, Asks $3,000

Asserting that her husband is legally dead, Edna Castleburg today filed suit against the National Union for $3,000, with interest from August 7, 1912. Mrs. Castleburg is the wife of Robert Castleburg, who disappeared from his home on August 7, 1904.

MILAN CAN JOIN IN PENNANT FIGHT

Griffman's Lower Maxillary Chipped in Crash With Dan Moeller.

By THOMAS KIRBY. Reports of the injury to Clyde Milan, center fielder of the Nationals, have been overdrawn. Clark Griffith, the player's chief, expects to have him back in the regular line-up at the end of a week.

McAdoo Denies Unlawful Use of Revenue Cutters. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo today denied all charges that he used revenue cutters unlawfully.

Insane Patient Bound Over on Killing Charge. William Roland, a patient at the Government Hospital for the Insane, was held for the action of the grand jury by a coroner's jury, following an inquest today on the body of Louis Wolf, another patient, who died in the Asylum Hospital yesterday.

Mrs. Childress Assails Mother's Will as Void. Alleging that her mother, Charlotte Thurston Dalley, was not of sound mind or competent to make a valid document on February 2, 1911, Rita Childress, through her attorneys Hamilton, Yerkes & Hamilton, has filed a motion to set aside Mrs. Dalley's will of that date which was recently affirmed by Judge T. Manning and the American Security and Trust Company, executors.

Conciliator Arrives to Submit Strike Report. William E. Fairley, conciliator in the Colorado coal strike, arrived here today to report to the Department of Labor a report of more than two months' investigation. The report covers interlocking interests of persons representing each faction.

Boat Remains at Vera Cruz; Army Gets Report. Correspondent Fred L. Boalt, author of the story charging the American forces at Vera Cruz with the law of night, remains at Vera Cruz.

Bellboy, Out of Work, Attempts Poison Suicide. "Life isn't worth living when you can't get work," said Andrew J. Byke, a bellboy out of a job, when taken to Emergency Hospital yesterday suffering from iodine poisoning.

Mrs. Wakefield's Trial Is Halted by Ill Juror. NEW HAVEN, July 18.—The sudden illness of a juror has caused an abrupt adjournment until next Tuesday of the trial of Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield, on the charge of murdering her husband, Willie O. Wakefield, in June, 1912.

Shively Convalescing; La Follette Still Ill. Senator Shively of Indiana, who has been seriously ill for more than a week, is sufficiently recovered today to sit on his bed and dictate answers to a copy of the mail which has been accumulating during his illness.

STARTS SEIZURES FOR UNPAID TAXES

Collector Prince Fills Office With Wares of Automobile Supply Concern.

OPENING OF DRASTIC FIGHT ON DELINQUENTS

First Distrain to Be Followed by Others—Goods Will Be Sold at Auction.

With one distrain already in his credit Ben L. Prince, Collector of Taxes, is preparing to take drastic steps to compel the payment of personal taxes.

In the office of the Collector are the following articles, seized on account of non-payment of personal taxes from an auto-equipment firm, three power jacks, five peerless jacks, five automobile coats, thirty-four sponges, five tire trunks, two motorcycle horns, two pair automobile horns, two pair automobile gloves, eight pairs of goggles, three coil testers, one coil and one brass lamp.

The property will be offered for sale at public auction in room 112 District Building next Thursday at 11 a. m., to satisfy the District's claim of $60. Personal taxes were due May 31. This is the first distrain made by the Collector, but others, it was said today, will follow unless prompt payment is made by those who have failed to settle their obligations with the District government.

Personal tax collections, Mr. Prince added, compare favorably with those of last year, but it is not his intention to be satisfied with present results. Even hundred collections were made during the month of June, as compared with 96 during June of last year.

Insane Patient Bound Over on Killing Charge. William Roland, a patient at the Government Hospital for the Insane, was held for the action of the grand jury by a coroner's jury, following an inquest today on the body of Louis Wolf, another patient, who died in the Asylum Hospital yesterday.

Mrs. Childress Assails Mother's Will as Void. Alleging that her mother, Charlotte Thurston Dalley, was not of sound mind or competent to make a valid document on February 2, 1911, Rita Childress, through her attorneys Hamilton, Yerkes & Hamilton, has filed a motion to set aside Mrs. Dalley's will of that date which was recently affirmed by Judge T. Manning and the American Security and Trust Company, executors.

Conciliator Arrives to Submit Strike Report. William E. Fairley, conciliator in the Colorado coal strike, arrived here today to report to the Department of Labor a report of more than two months' investigation. The report covers interlocking interests of persons representing each faction.

Boat Remains at Vera Cruz; Army Gets Report. Correspondent Fred L. Boalt, author of the story charging the American forces at Vera Cruz with the law of night, remains at Vera Cruz.

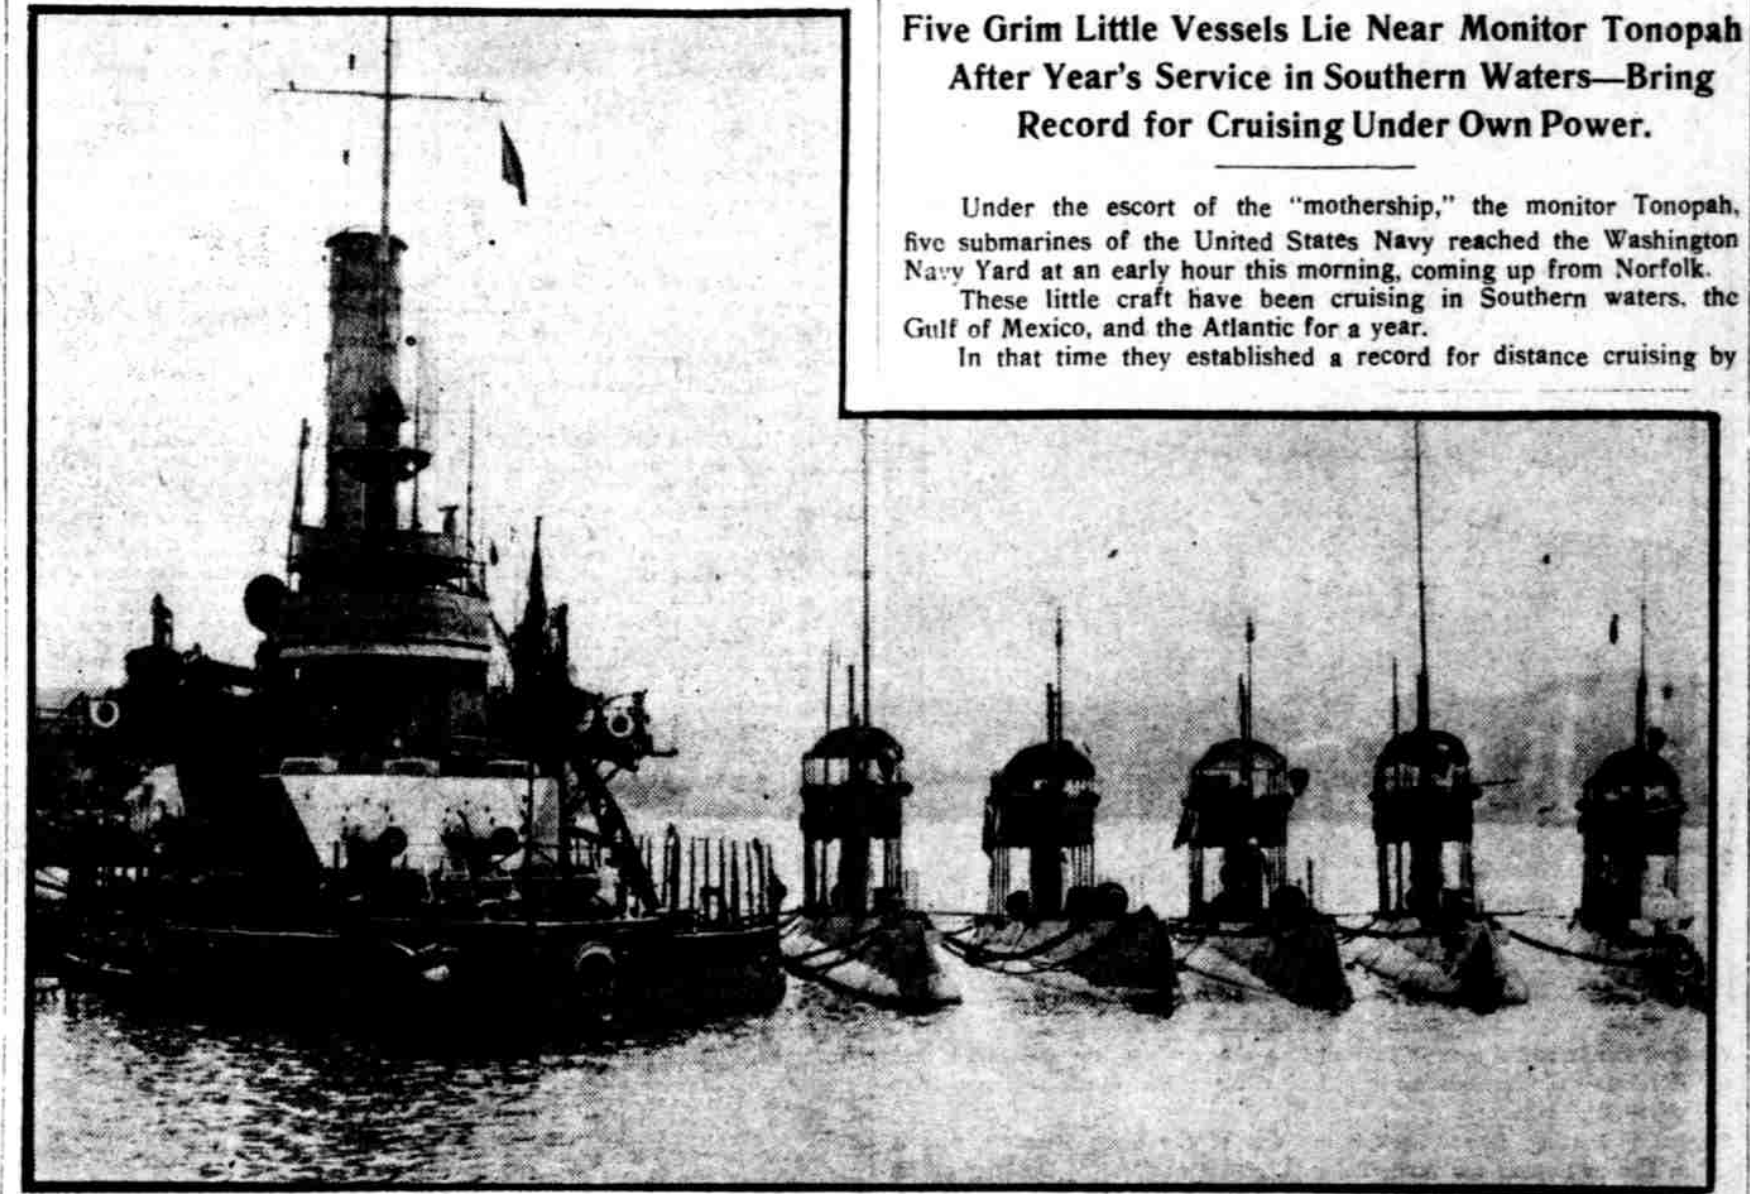

Bellboy, Out of Work, Attempts Poison Suicide. "Life isn't worth living when you can't get work," said Andrew J. Byke, a bellboy out of a job, when taken to Emergency Hospital yesterday suffering from iodine poisoning.

Mrs. Wakefield's Trial Is Halted by Ill Juror. NEW HAVEN, July 18.—The sudden illness of a juror has caused an abrupt adjournment until next Tuesday of the trial of Mrs. Bessie J. Wakefield, on the charge of murdering her husband, Willie O. Wakefield, in June, 1912.

Shively Convalescing; La Follette Still Ill. Senator Shively of Indiana, who has been seriously ill for more than a week, is sufficiently recovered today to sit on his bed and dictate answers to a copy of the mail which has been accumulating during his illness.

Boat Remains at Vera Cruz; Army Gets Report. Correspondent Fred L. Boalt, author of the story charging the American forces at Vera Cruz with the law of night, remains at Vera Cruz.

Submarine Flotilla Reaches Navy Yard

Five of Uncle Sam's Smallest and Most Menacing Defenders. The Submarines D-1, D-2, D-3, E-1 and E-2, Under the Lee of the Mother Ship, the Monitor Tonopah, at the Washington Navy Yard.

FEAR "FRAME-UP," SAYS MRS. CARMAN

Accused of Killing Mrs. Bailey, She Will Take Motor Trip With Husband.

NEW YORK, July 18.—My only fear is that I may be "framed up" by detectives, said Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, at liberty under $20,000 bail, as she sat beside her husband in the reception room of her home in Freeport on the sofa where Mrs. Louise Bailey sat a short time before she was shot to death on June 20. There Mrs. Carman said to a group of newspaper correspondents:

"When my trial is over, in September or whenever it may be, I shall have been proved guilty of the charge against me, and I expect to go on with my life right here, forget the cloud of sorrow I have passed through and be just as happy as I ever was."

"I Am Innocent." "I am innocent. No one will ever be able to find a verdict against me, if I get a square deal. I was not jealous of my husband's patient. I did not shoot her. I did not know her. My only fear for the future is that I may be 'framed-up' by detectives."

Mrs. Carman had pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging her with manslaughter in the first degree. At that moment she had been pale and trembling, her tightly clenched fists and gritted teeth showing how she was holding her nerves under restraint. She had seemed on the edge of a breakdown.

But her release from the jail at Mineola, which had held her for eight days, then a swift spin through the Long Island county for a couple of hours, and next a rest in the house of relatives at East Rockaway, had quieted her nerves considerably. So at the time of the interview she was again possessed of her wonderful composure. Her statement, summed up, was a cry of "Infirm! Infirm!" It had the same tone as many a defendant uses when he protests, "They framed me."

Mrs. Carman granted the interview for the avowed purpose of getting rid of all her troubles reporters being counted as troubles before she went away for a long rest. She and the doctor will start today for an automobile trip to Philadelphia, Atlantic City, and the Delaware Water Gap, taking their little daughter, Elizabeth.

HEAT FELLOWS SCORES, BUT SKIPS CAPITAL

Washington One of Coolest Cities in Country—Six Dead in Philadelphia.

While the entire Atlantic seaboard, as well as many of the cities in the central and middle Western States, are sweltering in the most intense heat spell of the year, the District today finds itself one of the coolest places in the country.

With every city on the Atlantic coast reporting two or more deaths from the hot wave as well as scores of heat prostrations, Not a death has occurred in Washington, and only one heat prostration has been reported by the police since Sunday.

Many Killed By Heat. Three dead in New York, six in Philadelphia, two in Boston, and one or two each in various other Eastern cities was the partial list of victims for the twenty-four hours.

Disipation of most of the humidity, which has added terror to the recent heat wave, also was predicted. The bureau experts said the humidity would be "lost" by tonight, south winds bearing moisture caused the blanket of humidity. It was stated.

Storm Brings Death. In New York and many nearby cities the intense heat was accompanied by thunder storms, in which several were killed by lightning. The electric storm in upper Manhattan was quickly followed by a shower of hail that smashed many windows along Riverside Drive.

After a night of almost insufferable heat and humidity, the greater city awoke to what is forecast to be the hottest day this year. Temperature at 8 a. m. was 82 in the shade. Hundreds from the choking hot East Side were driven from the stifling tenements to spend the night in the open.

Five Grim Little Vessels Lie Near Monitor Tonopah

After Year's Service in Southern Waters—Bring Record for Cruising Under Own Power. Under the escort of the "mothership," the monitor Tonopah, five submarines of the United States Navy reached the Washington Navy Yard at an early hour this morning, coming up from Norfolk.

These little craft have been cruising in Southern waters, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Atlantic for a year. In that time they established a record for distance cruising by proceeding under their own power from Key West to Galveston, about 800 miles. Navy regulations prohibit from boarding the vessels anyone not connected with the service. As they lie side by side, nestled under the outboard of the mother-ship, they look grim and formidable enough. On the bow of each is a heavy submarine bell, struck by compressed air. With these bells, when the vessels are under water, they signal to each other, the sound carrying for four or five miles. The bridges and the slight superstructure which mark their appearance in surface cruising are removed when about to dive, not more than five minutes being necessary to clear ship and prepare for sounding. The flotilla will probably remain at Washington for some time.

POLICEMAN ESCAPES WOMAN'S RIFLE SHOT

Annoyed by Men, Mrs. Hasting Tries to "Pot" Them From Window in Alley.

Policeman Thomas Nolan, of the First precinct, narrowly escaped being killed this morning when Mrs. Maye Haastman, thirty-two, mistaking him for a man she alleged had insulted her a few minutes before, shot at him with a rifle from a window on the second floor of the rooming house at 315 Thirtieth street northwest.

Nolan was in the station house when a man drove up in an automobile and said there was a woman shooting a rifle from a window of the Thirtieth street house at persons in the alley. Nolan jumped on his bicycle and rode around to the house. As he came up the alley Mrs. Haastman opened fire, but missed.

Mrs. Haastman told the officer that several colored men in the alley had been insulting her, and that she had decided to kill them. She said she thought Policeman Nolan was one of the men who had been annoying her. Nolan took the rifle from her and her husband deposited $10 collateral for his wife's appearance in court. A charge of discharging firearms in violation of the regulations was preferred against Mrs. Haastman.

Hasting is a woodworker and came from Baltimore.

T. P. Kane Ill. Assistant Comptroller of the Treasury T. P. Kane is ill at his home in this city. Mr. Kane was caught in the rain at a moving picture performance several nights ago, and became ill upon reaching home. It is not believed that his condition is serious.

FACING DEATH, OROZCO LEADS HIS FOLLOWERS IN NEW REVOLT

Takes to Mountains With 4,000 of Famed "Red Flag" Band Doomed to Execution by Victorious Rebels.

Brigade of Federal Irregulars, Accused of Wholesale Killings, Flees San Luis Potosi for Guerrilla War.

JUAREZ, Mex., July 18.—Realizing that he would be given no quarter if he surrendered, Gen. Pascual Orozco, leader in the bloody "red flag" revolution two years ago, has fled from San Luis Potosi with his brigade of 4,000 federal irregulars, and plans to carry on guerrilla warfare in the mountains against the Carranza government, according to word reaching General Villa here today.

Orozco was the first of the former Madero leaders to revolt, and his brigade was charged with wholesale executions in northern Mexico. Former followers of Orozco have been executed without mercy by Villa in all his campaigns.

Huerta Party Sails at Noon Today for Jamaica. PUERTO RICO, July 18.—Gen. Victoriano Huerta will sail from Puerto Mexico for Jamaica at noon today on the British cruiser Bristol. Three years ago the old Indian dictator escorted Porfirio Diaz to Vera Cruz, when the latter fled from the country before Francisco Madero, and saw the flower of his army crushed by the constitutionalists, has told on him.

According to present plans, the fleeing executive party will sail from Jamaica, where they expect to make their future home. It was planned that the departure of Huerta should be marked by a little ceremony as possible. The dictator spent the night on the car of his special train. It was sweltering hot. The dictator's guard and the federal officers stationed here strutted about in stiff, close-fitting uniforms, but Huerta appeared in his familiar sack suit and soft hat. When not receiving visitors he cast aside his coat and collar.

General Huerta refused to issue a formal statement, but in a brief talk declared that, by leaving the country, he was keeping his word that he would restore peace in Mexico at any cost. "When I took the presidential chair," said the general, "I declared that I would bring about peace, cost what it may. It is necessary for me to go to the general, I declared that I kept my word. I am paying the cost."

Col. Jose Delgado says that Huerta's refusal to make a formal statement before his departure was due to his desire not to embarrass President Carranza in any way. The crowd in Puerto Mexico were quiet today. They flocked toward the wharf and toward the yards where the Huerta special stood. There were shouts of "Viva Huerta," but in the main the crowd was quiet. Upon the arrival of the special train last night there was no demonstration of any kind.

Huerta today telegraphed Provisional President Carranza his hope that the present government would continue, and offered his services should they be required. The message read: "I desire that your government shall continue. If you should require my services I assure you they are at your disposal."

To governors of all states, Huerta telegraphed the wish that they support the new government. He also telegraphed diplomatic representatives at Mexico City, urging them to recognize the new administration.

U. S. Backs Carranza in Demands on Carranza. Firm in their belief that the Mexican revolution soon will be a thing of the past, Administration officials are eagerly awaiting the outcome of the meeting between the representatives of Provisional President Carranza and General Carranza, at Monterey.

If this meeting results favorably, and Administration officials have reason to believe that it will, it will be a matter of a few days or weeks only before Carranza will be in possession of Mexico City. From then on, it is believed, steps toward a complete restoration of order will follow rapidly.

President Wilson and his advisers are particularly pleased with the generous attitude adopted by Huerta's ad interim successor, in declaring that his purpose is to continue in office only long enough to bring about a peaceful transfer of Earn $100 a Word, $10,000 for a 100 Word Solution Of Harold MacGrath's "The Million Dollar Mystery" Read It in THE TIMES Tomorrow In order that none of the readers of The Times may fail to have the opportunity to start this wonderful MacGrath story, the opening chapters have been reprinted and issued to newsdealers. Get a copy from your nearest newsdealer or at the office of The Times. Then continue the story in the Times tomorrow. Order it today. That is the only sure way.