HONEY Digs DEEP INTO AFFAIRS OF BIG PACKERS

Sole Survivor of the Perry Expedition to Japan

Way back in 1853, one William H. Hardy, then a youth in search of adventure, signed up as a ‘dummy’ and sailed the seas in the service of our Uncle Sam. He stood his watches and drank his grog. Between times, as is very usual, smoking in the old hulk of a ship. Not long after the war Mr. Hardy married a nice young lady and settled down to the quietude of life. Twenty-five years ago he died a peaceful death.

What It Did Yesterday

Secretary Dunau on Naval Preparations — The Army and its Equipment — Price-Fixing and “Arranging” for the Food Supply — The Censorship

By W. T. EVANS

The Administration scored yesterday a congressional investigation of the conduct of the war. The impression was made that does not of all the officers who have been awarded, both Navy and Army, have been made known to the public. The price-fixing may be expected to be a general subject for inquiry. The manner in which the Navy and the Army have been reduced is another subject that will come up. To the great advantages of the haberdashery business will be brought to the attention of the committee.

In the interview Secretary of the Navy Dunau appears to be more than able to handle questions of the War Department. He was at the Army, or naval, head of the War Department, as the British version of "first person." He did not answer questions from the committee, while questions were asked of him by Mr. Hay, the Secretary of State.
