EXCHANGE DROPS TO LOWEST MARK IN GENERATION

Rates Fall to 4.60 1/2 on London, in Spite of Gold Shipments.

MARKS AND KRONEN ALSO AT NEW LOWS

$115,000,000 Sent Here by England in Two Weeks Has No Effect on Exchange.

An almost complete lack of support to the foreign exchange market was in evidence yesterday, notwithstanding the receipt on Sunday of $13,000,000 in gold from London via Halifax and a large amount of securities, which it is understood are to be made the basis of further credits to finance purchases made here by Great Britain and her allies.

Yesterday's rate for exchange on London is the lowest in the memory of the present generation of bankers and compares with a par rate of 4.86. In ordinary times a rate below 4.84 is regarded as very unusual. Marks also fell to the low levels of 80 1/2 for demand and 80 1/4 for cables.

Whether or not there will be further importation of gold in the near future to strengthen the exchange situation was not officially divulged, but it was assumed that unless the long looked for British credit is established here soon this method of paying in supplies must be continued in even greater proportions.

In the absence of official information considerable speculation was indulged in by Wall Street as to the exchange securities received here with the gold which has been shipped along with the yellow metal. It was thought, may be part of the plan for a big loan to the Allies and may form part of the collateral which the bankers here are asking.

At least one of the sources nodded, recalled that John Lind was surely convinced that recognition of the First Chief was the sole means of extricating the United States from the Mexican tangle and sent the little rumor burning off with a new song about a conference between Mr. Lind and Colonel House.
