

Newspapers May Use Election Day Material

Portland Judge Holds That Corrupt Practices Act Does Not Apply to Newspaper in One Instance

PORTLAND, Feb. 7.—Publication of newspapers on election day of editorials, cartoons or advertising matter is not forbidden by the corrupt practices law of Oregon, according to the ruling of Judge J. U. Gantenbein Saturday when the Multnomah grand jury asked his advice regarding the suspicious case of the "Courier," a newspaper, represented as having been published in Portland upon the morning of election day.

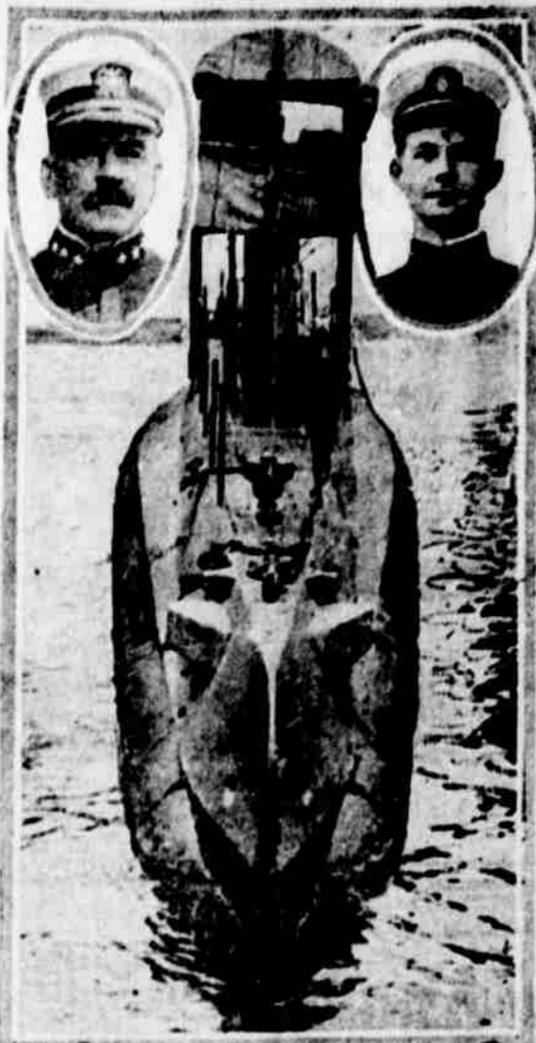

Judge Gantenbein held that election day as indicated by the statute meant that part of the day of election between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m., during which the polls were open.

The newspaper in question had been put on the presses at about 2 a.

m. and issued about 4:30. As its publication was admitted before 8 a. m., the court held that the law did not prohibit the use of cartoons, editorials, advertisements or other appeals to voters.

The case reflected a situation in which the indictment of the Oregonian was sought by the Journal. Attorneys for both papers presented briefs to the court. In defense of the "Courier," John F. Logan argued that as section 2518, L. O. L., under which the indictment was sought, made no specific reference to newspapers, whereas the preceding and subsequent sections did mention newspapers, the manifest intent of the legislature was to exclude newspapers from the terms of the section.

U. S. Submarine E-1 and Her Officers

One of the sub-boats upon which, without doubt, this country will have to depend to a great extent in case of trouble with any foreign nation. It will be up to this branch of the navy of this country to form the first line of battle, as well as a reserve force to act quickly and escape in case of disaster.

It is not here long, so let's make out stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sinuses in the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire size of half a dollar and a dollar. Manning attempted to qualify the doctor as an expert, but it was deemed improper cross examination by the court, so the doctor will appear for the defense.

Harry Meener was the last witness for the state in the evening. He was employed as bookkeeper and time-keeper by the Algoma Lumber company at the camp. He said he knew of a contract between Way and Hobbs for the cutting of logs on Hobbs' homestead. Said they cut for about two weeks. Said Hobbs had said that he "wished Way could see his way clear to take the rest of his timber."

On cross examination Mr. Manning met with no success. The judge ruled that the questions asked were not impeaching where they dealt with the witness' actions, whether proper or not. Repeated attempts to question witness along same lines were resisted by the state, and objections sustained by the court.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make out stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sinuses in the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside bathing before breakfast.—Adv.

State Ready to Rest Case

with Mrs. Ed Way, the widow of the deceased, on the stand. But few questions were asked her, most of them being relative to events just prior to her husband's leaving home the day of the shooting. Manning, in cross examination endeavored to question Mrs. Way relative to events prior to her marriage with Way, but upon objection of state being sustained, he desisted. Miss Elma Way, the 15-year old daughter was placed on the stand, and told of the last time she saw her father alive, corroborating her mother's statement. Again objections to the defense's cross examination were sustained, and she was not questioned further.

Nav Askins, half sister of Henry Hobbs, who was present in the house at the time of the shooting, was then placed on the stand by the state. Although rather hard of hearing, and suffering from hoarseness, the young lady commanded the attention of every one in the court room, and every remark was attentively received by jurors and spectators. She was cool and collected, and gave her answers readily. Her evidence closely followed the story Hobbs told on the night of the shooting to Irwin and other officers, which was detailed in Tuesday's Herald. Regarding the opening of the front door Miss Askins said that she looked into the sitting room twice, once just before Mr. Hobbs entered the kitchen when coming up from the Way car, and at that time the door was closed. Looked the second time and the door was opened and Mr. Way was standing on the step with his hands resting on the door jamb. Mr. Hobbs had a shotgun lying in the crook of his arm, with the muzzle pointing toward the ground and Mrs. Hobbs standing beside him with the revolver in her hand, pointing also toward the ground. She said that her brother had the shotgun when he entered the kitchen door, but did not have it when he was walking up from the car. She stated further that it was only a moment later that she heard a shot, and she went to the door leading between the kitchen and sitting room, and saw Mr. Way lying on the ground in front of the house. Said that she met her brother coming through the door towards the kitchen, and she asked him why he had done that, and he answered because he had to. Said her brother went on out the kitchen door, and it was but a few moments until they put their suitcase and the three guns in the car and started for town.

Cross examination by Manning: Asked how she knew, she said that Mrs. Hobbs said they were going to town to give themselves up to the sheriff. She related how the car stuck on the hill and that they got out, she taking the children and the shotgun, and Hobbs and his wife starting for a phone. Told of the officers meeting them, taking them back to the cabin, and finally coming to town in custody of a deputy sheriff.

Admitted hearing part of the conversation at the door prior to the shooting. Said she heard Mrs. Hobbs tell Mr. Way of the different things he had done to her, and also hearing Mr. Hobbs tell Mr. Way to "get away and stay away from there." Said that she was sure the guns were not pointed at Mr. Way when she looked in. Said that the babies were on the bed in the front room. She said that Mr. Way didn't look pleased when she saw him just before the shot was fired, that there was "an angry look in his eyes."

Earl Whitlock, ex-county coroner, was next placed on the stand. He related going there in his official capacity, meeting the Hobbs party on the road, and followed the same story of the other officers regarding testimony given by Hobbs, and the prevention of any answering by counsel for the defense. Yaden, unless Yaden had put the query. He introduced a new bit of evidence regarding some tracks outside the door near the tree. He had asked Hobbs where Way was standing, and Hobbs replied that the tracks would show, and upon finding some heel marks near the tree he stood on them and asked if that was about where Way stood, and Hobbs said he thought so. Regarding the nature of the wound, Mr. Whitlock testified that there were no powder marks on the face or no marks of shot on the outside of the face. The wound was in the mouth, with the exception of three small gashes or cuts on the lips and edge of mouth. Whitlock told of his findings as coroner and his work as undertaker in preparing the body for view of relatives before interment. Said that the roof of the mouth was torn out, bones in jaw broken, skull fractured, teeth all loose, some out of position, but all in the mouth, so that they were restored to place and no gaps left. That there were powder burns inside the mouth. He also said that Drs. Hamilton and Cathey had performed an autopsy on the body, taking from the back of the head, shot and a gunwad. A bottle containing shot, wad, some bones and flesh from the inside of the mouth and a ring which had been on the third finger of the left hand was introduced, but ruled out by Judge Kuykendall, with orders that if any of those wished to be entered they must be presented separately. The ring was bent, and Whitlock said that it had been in the same condition when removed from the finger. On cross examination he testified that there were no other marks on the body save natural discoloration which are present in all postmortems. The clothing of the deceased was introduced as evidence by the state.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

DRUGGIST SAYS LADIES ARE USING RECIPE OF SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it, and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre, and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.
