GERMAN COMMERCE DRIVEN FROM BALTIC, SAYS BRITAIN

RETIRED ADMIRAL COURT-MARTIALED FOR K-BOAT WORK

Admiral William Little Charged With Neglect as Inspector of Construction of K-2

NAVY MEN HERE THOUGHT HE WAS QUITE COMPETENT

Exact Grounds for Trial Not Known; Presumed K-2 Must Have Developed Defects; Is on Atlantic Side FROM POLLY TO BEGGY.

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today ordered that Admiral W. Little, retired, be court-martialed for neglect of duty highly prejudicial to the navy. It is alleged that he was careless in his duties as inspector in connection with the construction of the submarine K-2.

Officers on the K boats now here say that while the K-2 is a sister boat of these, she has never been in Pacific waters, but is kept as a part of the Atlantic fleet.

One prominent navy officer now in Honolulu says that he knew of Admiral Little as inspector of machinery at the Fall River shipyards, and that the admiral was considered exceedingly competent. "He probably went to the other position after leaving Fall River," says the officer. "It is surely hard luck if the report is true." Officers of the K boats now in Honolulu harbor profess to know nothing of the defects in the K-2 which have led up to the court-martial, and point out that whatever they are they are not general to the K boats as a class, or the voyage from San Francisco, which ended yesterday, could not have been made so successfully.

Approves Recommendations of Secretary of the Navy; First Year Program Includes Two Dreadnoughts and Two Battle Cruisers

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15.—President Wilson today approved the recommendation of Secretary of the Navy Daniels for a five-year program for the expenditure of $500,000,000 for army and navy defense. The program for the first year calls for the construction of two dreadnoughts and two battle cruisers, as well as a number of navy aeroplanes.

SOUTH CAROLINA ELECTION SPIRIT BRINGS VIOLENCE

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] CHARLESTON, S. C., Oct. 15.—Sydney Cohen, a newspaper reporter, was shot and almost instantly killed today in a melee outside the room where the Democratic executive committee was meeting to canvass the returns in the municipal primary held last Tuesday. Four others were held, none of them fatally, it is believed. There is a serious dispute over the municipal primary and representatives of both factions crowded the hallway outside the room where the meeting was held.

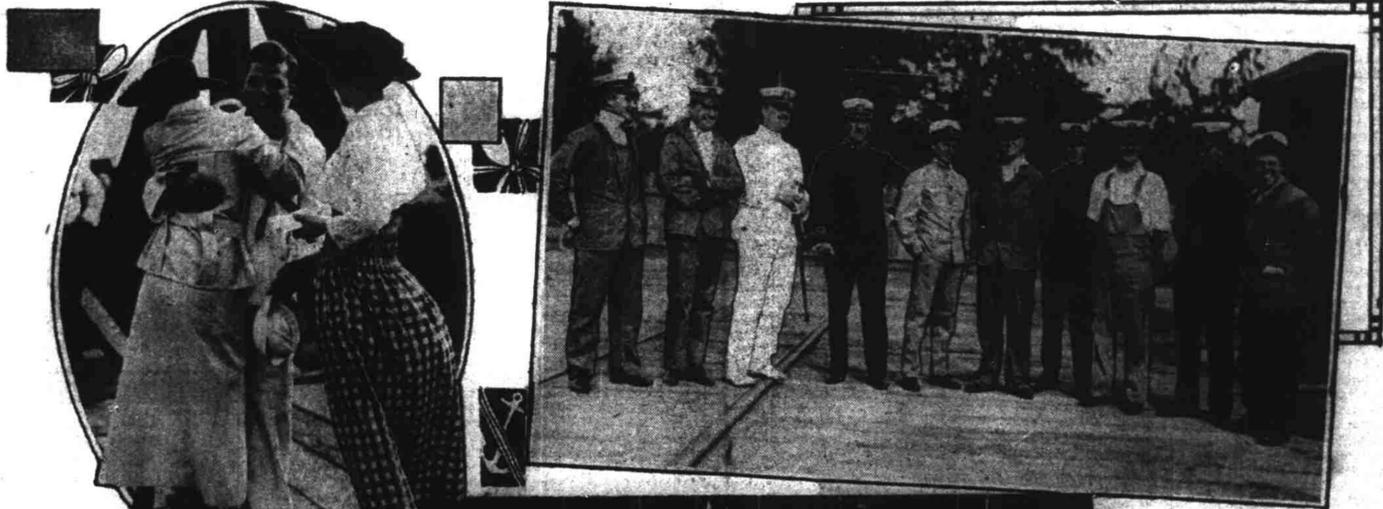

LONG BRANCH AS SUMMER CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 15.—President Wilson will not establish the "summer capital" next year at Cornish, N. H. He has decided to spend the summer at Long Branch, N. J., at the former home of John McCall, a very handsome house. He insists on paying the high rent which has been asked, but it will probably be given to charity by the owners, who wish to charge the president nothing.

Commanders and Submarines in Record-Breaking Voyage Over Pacific, And Sample of Warm Welcome They Found Waiting Here

Scenes at the naval wharf yesterday secured by Star-Bulletin staff photographer shortly after the arrival of the K type submarines from San Francisco. The picture in the upper left-hand corner is that of First Class Electrician Erby of the K-4, with Mrs. Erby and a friend. Mrs. Erby preceded her husband to Honolulu, and the meeting of the couple was a joyous one, as the picture illustrates. At the right, upper, are the officers of the submarines and other officers who greeted them yesterday. From left to right, they are: Ensign E. J. O'Brien of the K-4; Lieut. Howard Bode of the K-7; Lieut. Kirby B. Crittenden, commanding first division, F-4 boats; Cmdr. F. N. Freeman, commanding torpedo flotilla, Pacific fleet; Lieut. J. V. Ogan, commanding third division, K boats; Lieut. J. W. Lewis of the K-7; Lieut. J. P. Olding of the K-4; Lieut. F. T. Chew of the K-3; Ensign C. B. Byrne of the K-5, and Lieut. N. L. Kirk of the K-3. Below are shown the K type submarines moored at the naval wharf.

F BOATS LIKELY TO REMAIN HERE TEN DAYS MORE

Men of Maryland May Have to Abandon Kilauea Trip; Freeman Tells of Voyage

That the F submarines may not leave San Francisco until October 25 was stated this afternoon by Capt. Sumner E. W. Kittelle of the U. S. cruiser Maryland, when he said that he desires to take all the three undersea craft back to San Francisco together instead of towing the F-2 and F-3 and making a separate trip for the F-1.

"I have had a conference with Cmdr. Freeman and Capt. Crittenden relative to the F boats," said Capt. Kittelle on board his ship, "but the matter has not yet been decided. I want to take all the F submarines back together, and if the navy department will allow me to do this, it will mean we cannot sail with them before October 25, as the F-1 will not be ready for the journey before that date."

There is a possibility that the Hilo volcano trip may be called off, as the Maryland's crew planned to go before Capt. Kittelle or the other officers knew they would have to tow the F submarines to San Francisco. The towing order disarranged the plans made six weeks ago for the men to make the trip.

"This matter has not been decided fully as yet," said Capt. Kittelle. "We may possibly go to Hilo and return here to get the submarines, as the harbor there is so dangerous for submarines that I would not like to bring the F boats into it for fear an accident might happen to them."

All Honolulu is proud today of the big achievement of the K submarines, in making the record-breaking journey of 2180 miles here under their own power. The trip is a new record of achievement in the history of the American navy and as one of the officers on the Alert expressed it this morning, "ought to stop some of the knocking about our submarines not being able to go anywhere."

Most of the time today was put in by the crews of the K-3, K-4, K-7 and K-8, in cleaning up the ships and removing the stains of travel from the four big under-sea craft. It was a big (Continued on page two.)

FILIPINOS PAY DEATH PENALTY; BRAVE TO LAST

Three Men Hanged at Territorial Prison for Murder of Japanese on Kauai

Hanged this morning, shortly after 8 o'clock, in the yards of the territorial prison, Juan Coronel, Feliciano Hirano and Ponciano Colaste have paid the price of murder which they committed upon a Japanese vegetable gardener named Wada on the 15th of last June, near Kilauea, Kauai.

Every detail of the execution was carried through without a flaw, less than 50 minutes elapsing from the time the trap was sprung under Coronel and Hirano until Colaste, the last of the three, was declared dead by Dr. Moore, prison surgeon, and Dr. Cress of the Marine Hospital Corps.

All three of the doomed men bore up well. Coronel and Hirano came out upon the platform together, walking unaided. They faced the crowd for but a moment before being turned, and standing there they looked mere boys. Hirano was 21 years of age, Coronel a year older. Hardly four minutes passed after the two ascended the scaffold until the trap was sprung.

Hirano was pronounced dead 13 minutes after the fall. Coronel's heart ceased beating after 18 and one-half minutes. Colaste, who came third and alone, bore up well save for one brief moment when his knees gave way beneath him. He regained his standing position, and immediately afterwards the trap was sprung. Colaste was pronounced dead exactly 19 minutes after the falling of the trap.

Physician, Member of Cooper Medical College Faculty, Will Succeed Dr. Branner

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Palo Alto, Cal., Oct. 15.—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, a member of the second class ever graduated from the university, will become president of Stanford at the first of the year, when Dr. J. C. Branner voluntarily gives up that position.

Dr. Wilbur, who is only 40 years of age, is an Iowa by birth, but has lived at Stanford or at Palo Alto for the last 19 years, working up from a small physician's practice there, to a big practice in San Francisco and the position of dean of Stanford's medical school, Cooper Medical College. His home, however, has remained at Palo Alto.

Hearing will be had in federal court at 10 o'clock tomorrow on the answer of the Variety Film Exchange Company, an alleged bankrupt. The estate of General Benjamin R. Tracy is valued at $200,000.

German Official Cablegram Tells of Teuton Campaign in New Balkan Arena

The following cablegram from official German sources has been received:

"German Army Headquarters Report, Oct. 13 (Delayed).—The Serbian resistance has not been able to hold back the German advance. The Germans stormed Zveznik, south of Belgrade, and eastward the heights on both sides of the Ziderska river have been taken. The German attack against Pozarevaz makes progress. The road from Pozarevaz to Gradzste has been passed in a southern direction.

"On the west front English attacks northeast of Vermeles were easily repulsed. The Germans reconquered trenches west of Souchez which the French still occupied on October 11. The French lost part of a position west of Cole Schratzmaennel.

"On the east front Gen. von Hindenburg's army has repulsed Russian attacks west of Duenaburg and against the islands of the Miadziol sea and northeast of Smorgon. German aircraft have heavily bombarded the fortress of Duenaburg, which is full of troops. Gen. von Linsingen's army has thrown the Russians from their positions near Rudka Biglsjo. Gen. [Associated Press by Federal Wireless] LONDON, England, Oct. 15.—That the British submarines have cleared the Baltic sea of the teeming German commerce which was carrying huge cargoes of supplies and provisions to the Teutonic nations was the announcement made today. British officials declare that all of the German merchantmen which have been plying the Baltic have been so harassed by the British submarines that they are now either sunk, run aground or forced to intern in neutral countries bordering on the sea.

LONDON, England, Oct. 15.—Official.—The total British casualties at the Dardanelles, since the beginning of the attack on the straits and on Gallipoli peninsula and up to October 9, number 96,899. The number killed are 18,957, of whom 1185 were officers. The announcement of these great losses followed a speech in the House of Lords last night by Lord Milner, in which he attacked the wisdom of the Dardanelles campaign, characterized the expedition as "hopeless" and suggested that the British troops be withdrawn from Gallipoli.

[Lord Milner is an old-time radical. He was former under-secretary of finance in Egypt; governor of the Cape of Good Hope, governor of Transvaal and Orange River Colony, and high commissioner for South Africa.]
