

ROUND OF SHOT POURED INTO HOLLY GROVE STRIKERS' CAMP FROM AN ARMORED R. R. TRAIN

Death Follows the Fusillade When the Guns Are Trained on the Camp

Senate Committee Sits Back Astounded When Testimony Is Presented

Tale of a Peaceful Community Transferred Into a Theater of War

Charleston, W. Va., June 14.—About a single battle in the coal strike in the Paint and Cabin Creek districts centered today's inquiry by the senate committee investigating the coal mine strike.

Almost all day the committee heard statements of an attack on Holly Grove, the strikers' camp, from an armored train, which ran up into the strike district February 7.

The committee sat back astounded at the testimony presented by Lee Calvin, an ex-mine guard, who was one of the men in the armored train. His testimony showed that Cisco Estep, a miner, had been killed, and Mrs. Annie Hall wounded.

After relating that he had been "chief guard" on Cakin creek, and left the district because of shootings there, Calvin said that Sheriff Lonner Hill and Quinn Morton, a mine operator, had prevailed upon him to join their train.

He described the journey of the train into the strikers' district, where they had fired upon the camp of the strikers, before, the witness said, to the best of his knowledge, there had been any shots from the camp.

He testified that after running past the camp, Mr. Lord said:

"Back up the train and give them another round."

This the sheriff declined to do, there being women and children in the camp.

Pale-faced women and men who showed traces of years of arduous digging of coal from the West Virginia mountains told their side of the controversy.

It was the tale of a peaceful community transferred into a theater of war.

Attorneys for the striking miners presented their case, and they called a dozen men and women of the hills to tell the committee of the attack on the strike camp at Holly Grove.

Although the attorneys for the mine operators insisted that they would show that the train had been fired upon from town before the machine guns in the armored train turned loose, the committee accepted into the record the testimony of the men and women of Holly Grove.

The advent of the "Death Special," as mine operators termed it, was the principal subject of the inquiry this afternoon.

C. J. FORD, WILSON SUPPORTER, NAMED AS PUBLIC PRINTER

Washington, June 14.—Cornelius J. Ford of Hoboken, N. J., appointed public printer at $5,500 a year, was an original Wilson man in New Jersey. He will have charge of 4,500 men. He is 46 years old and has been a printer since boyhood. There has been a keen contest for his position, and at one time there was an intimation from an authoritative source that President Lynch of the International Typographical union had been selected. As a member of the New Jersey legislature Mr. Ford was a staunch supporter of the policies advocated by Woodrow Wilson when governor. Mr. Ford was born in Hoboken February 27, 1867, and has lived there all his life. Last year he ran for congress at the primary, but was defeated and was then appointed sergeant-at-arms of the house at Trenton, N. J. For ten years Mr. Ford has been New Jersey state president of the American Federation of Labor.

BIG OIL SUIT IS DISMISSED

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 14.—The government suit against the Midwest Oil company, a test case involving title to $20,000,000 worth of oil lands in California and Wyoming, was dismissed by Judge Riner of the United States district court. While the government sought to recover only four thousand acres of land in this suit the issue involved several thousand acres of other California and Wyoming lands withdrawn by President Taft's sweeping order of 1909, designed to conserve the country's oil resources and especially to afford the government a supply of fuel oil for the United States navy.

IRON AND STEEL RAW MATERIALS TRANSFERRED TO THE FREE LIST

Washington, June 14.—The majority of the members of the senate finance committee approved the transfer to the free list of the tariff bill of iron and steel raw materials with an estimated dutiable value of over $600,000 a year.

This increases the senate's additions to the free list to an aggregate annual loss of $2,000,000 in revenue, making an estimated total annual revenue loss from the free list of $27,000,000.

Lead, zinc and aluminum are unsettled, but will be determined Monday.

The raw material placed on the free list is largely because they are controlled by the United States corporations.

Senator Simmons said tonight that the administrative features of the bill, which present such a problem, will be acted upon Monday or Tuesday, and that the bill will be ready for caucus Wednesday or Thursday.

ELEVEN MEN BURIED ALIVE IN NEW YORK

Awful Accident Believed to Have Been the Result of an Explosion

Five of the Entombed Bodies Recovered at a Late Hour Last Night

Hundreds of Men Quickly Assemble in Effort to Free Their Comrades

New York, June 14.—Eleven lives are believed to have been lost in a disastrous cave-in 80 feet underground on the new subway construction at Fifty-sixth street and Lexington avenue this evening, when 13 men of a crew of 32 drillers and laborers were entombed.

At 10:30 tonight six bodies had been recovered, and five were reported still buried under the many tons of rock and earth.

Two of the injured men were rescued, but one will probably die.

Five hundred laborers quickly assembled at the scene in an effort to dig out the buried men.

According to the police and fire authorities it may be hours before any more of the bodies are reached.

There appears to be no hope that any of the entombed workmen escaped death.

There is conflict of opinion as to whether the cave-in was due to a blast or a collapse of the timbering.

There are two levels to the subway construction at this point, and it was the lower ceiling which caved in.

The policeman who first gave the alarm following the accident stated that he heard a loud blast, and it was at once succeeded by the cries of the wounded and dying.

Up to midnight no additional bodies were recovered. It is feared that all are dead. Patrick Joyce, the head boss, is among the missing.

The parents were working nearby when a kerosene stove exploded, causing a fire in the small house, in which the children were sleeping.

GANT SUBMARINES, BIG AS BATTLESHIPS, PLANNED FOR FUTURE; NEW UNDERSEA TEST

Washington, June 14.—Will the submarine eventually put the super-Dreadnought out of business? This question is a live topic just now for two reasons. The first is the decision of congress to build much larger undersea fighters. The second is the success of the Benton in setting a new record for staying under water at Long Beach, Cal. Although the pioneer in submarine navigation, the American navy has been outstripped by European engineers in the matter of size, speed and offensive power of underwater craft. The navy department designers now are planning much larger and more formidable vessels of this type, and some of them predict the development of the submarine into a giant battleship that will replace Dreadnoughts in the first line of defense. They even contend these vessels would be able to disappear beneath the surface of the sea to escape a return fire after discharging their great 12-inch rifles at an enemy. The submarine Benton is a new type invented by John M. Gage. The previous record for submarine submergence was made jointly by the Octopus and the Lake at Newport in May, 1907, when the two undersea craft stayed down for exactly 24 hours and came up with their crews elated. There had been 23 of them in the submarines, and they stood the experience with no signs of wear. It was a new record for sustained life under the sea. Before that the record had been that established by the Fulton at New York, N. Y., in 1902, when the persons on board were down for 17 hours. Later in the same year a party on the Fulton lived under sea for 12 hours at the torpedo station.

PROMINENT FIGURES IN NATIONAL CONVENTION OF ADVERTISING CLUBS AND MEETING PLACE IN BALTIMORE

The national convention of Associated Advertising Clubs of America, which began at Baltimore June 9, to last a week, attracted prominent newspaper and advertising men from all parts of the country and proved beneficial in many ways. The Fifth regiment armory in Baltimore, where the democratic national convention was held last fall, was the scene of the meetings. Four prominent figures in the convention are shown here. Arthur Capper is a Kansas newspaper owner and was at first believed elected governor of his state last November. Louis Wiley is business manager of the New York Times. F. E. Johnston is president of the southwestern division of the associated clubs, and Gerald B. Wadsworth is head of the eastern division.

Washburn, N. D., June 14.—Only six of the veniremen were examined this morning to complete the jury in the case wherein Wofford T. Anderson, the young bank clerk, is being tried for the mysterious murder of Cashier F. E. Funk.

The twelve men were given the oath, and court took a recess at noon to convene at 9 o'clock Monday morning. At that time a statement of the case will be made to the jurors, and the examination of the large number of witnesses will be commenced.

During the morning session of the court, and as it became evident that the jury was about to be secured and his trial actually commenced, Anderson became highly emotional, and in fact at times during the morning he displayed signs of weeping. His smile that he bore the first two days of the trial had left his countenance, and he appeared to realize the enormity of the grave crime for which he must answer.

IS MOOSE OR GRONNA TO BE TRIED

That is a State Wide Question Now Being Asked by Politicians

Query Starts as Result of Editors Being Called to Washington

Fargo, N. D., June 14.—Is the North Dakota bull moose national committeeman to be placed on trial or is Senator Gronna clearing the track in anticipation of his campaign for reelection? That is a question being asked in this state as a result of the subpoena of O'wener A. Y. Moore and Manager A. M. Baker of a local paper. More is national bull moose head for this state.

An editorial appeared in this paper, in which comments were made on the senatorial investigation on lobbying and certain references to Senators Kenyon of Iowa and Gronna of this state were made. As a matter of fact the article was written by an acting editor, recently from Montana, and during the absence of both Moore and Baker. They, however, have been subpoenaed and are on their way to Washington to appear before the subcommittee.

Some people think Gronna sees an opportunity to get Moore, and though him, the state bull moose in a hole.

BANKS MAY COLLECT LIQUOR SHIPMENT SIGHT DRAFTS IN N. D.

St. Paul, Minn., June 14.—The bank which collects a sight draft representing the purchase price of liquor shipped into a prohibition state does not violate the law prohibiting a carrier from acting as agent, according to an opinion handed down in the United States circuit court of appeals.

The opinion reversed the decision of Judge Amundson of the district court of North Dakota in the case of the First National bank of Anamosa, which had been convicted and fined $300 under section 239, of the penal code. The bill of lading attached to a sight draft for the purchase price of beer was sent to the bank, which agreed to collect from the purchaser before delivering the bill of lading. The bank was indicted after the completion of the transaction.
