

Above: Submarine crews learn by practicing and conduct frequent drills to hone their skills, even in the most unusual places. Crew members of the nuclear submarine USS Pogy (SSN 647) don emergency breathing masks for a drill during a scientific expedition to the Arctic.